DELEGATES AT GENEVA MEET GET WARNINGS

SIMON AND TARDIEU PRESENT VIEWS ON PEACE

BY P. I. LIPSEY, JR.,
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Geneva, Feb. 8 (AP)—Solemn warnings that the failure of the disarmament conference would bring about a world disaster were issued today by the spokesmen of Great Britain and France, but they differed about the way to safety.

Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, said reductions in arms were needed. Andre Tardieu, French war minister, averred that international peace must be guaranteed by converting the League of Nations into a strong military power.

Opening the general discussion which will define the task and possibilities of the conference, the British foreign secretary advocated the abolition of submarines and gas warfare and cast his country's vote for arms reductions as provided in the draft convention prepared for the delegates.

M. Tardieu, following up the formal presentation of the French proposals Friday, explained his nation's fears and eloquently advocated the exchange of mutual pledges of assistance and the establishment of an international police force.

In general lines the British and French theses appeared antagonistic, but in many particulars they were similar.

Both governments accepted the draft convention as the basis of the conference's work and announced support of any scheme of limitation or reduction in harmony with its principles.

Both favored the banishment of gas and chemical warfare and restrictions on the use of offensive weapons which are especially dangerous to civil populations. But the Briton vigorously asserted that armaments are a delusion in the search for security.

Tomorrow the delegates will hear the American and German declarations presented by Hugh Gibson and Chancellor Heinrich Bruening, respectively. Mr. Gibson had a long telephone conversation with Washington tonight during which the final draft of his speech was approved.

In the days to come the conference will hear Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy, Ambassador Tsuneo Matsudaira of Japan, Dr. W. W. Yen of China and the spokesmen of the other nations.

Seek Leniency for Ethiopian Officers

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The American minister at Addis Ababa has been instructed to request that the fines imposed upon the Ethiopian police officers who attacked him on January 17 be remitted.

The state department said the prompt action taken by the Ethiopian authorities in response to the request of this government for suitable punishment was responsible for the leniency request.

The minister was instructed to express the appreciation of the American government for the punishment, which consisted of a fine of 100 Maria Theresa dollars, worth about 24 cents each, American money, and a sentence of one year's imprisonment. The imprisonment was not affected by the state department's last request.

Al Smith Declares He is Not Candidate But Would Accept If Nominated by Convention

BY ROBERT ST. JOHN
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith pounded his desk today and said he was "not a candidate" for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"Nothing in the statement I gave out for this morning's papers can be interpreted as an announcement that I am a candidate," he told 20 newspapermen in his skyscraper office.

"All I said was that I would accept the nomination if the convention should chose me.

"Now a candidate is a man who seeks the support of delegates and makes a campaign before the convention. I'm not going to do either. I have no headquarters and I'm not spending any money.

"I don't believe anyone was ever nominated who didn't make a pre-convention campaign."

He took a cigar from his mouth and pointed it toward a pile of newspapers on his mahogany desk.

"They all interpret the thing in a different way, but this is the one I like best."

He referred to an editorial which concluded:

"Alfred E. Smith stands out as the manliest figure in the Democratic lists."

Meets Roosevelt

"That," said the titular head of democracy, "is what I'm trying to do—the manly thing."

The former governor had just come from the funeral of John R. Voorhis, Tammany's 102-year-old grand sachem.

All the leaders of New York democracy had been there. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose campaign manager claims he will be nominated for the presidency on the first ballot, sat in the front row of the church.

After the funeral he remained seated while one after another of his political friends paraded by him.

Mayor James J. Walker passed without looking at the governor. John J. Curry, leader of the Tammany Hall, was among those who stopped to shake hands. Then came Smith. He laid his hand on the governor's arm, bent over and whispered something on Roosevelt's ear.

"He said 'how do you do?' just as anyone would," the governor explained later.

When Smith appeared at his office, 45 minutes late for his appointment with newspaper men, he was asked what the governor had said to him.

"Invited me to his town house," Smith replied, and look-

SMITH'S STATEMENT

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith issued the following today:

"Not to be released or quoted from in any way prior to the publication of Monday morning papers, February 8, 1932.

"So many inquiries have come to me from friends throughout the country who worked for and believe in me, as to my attitude in the present political situation, that I feel that I owe it to my friends and to the millions of men and women who supported me so loyally in 1928 to make my position clear.

"If the Democratic National Convention after careful consideration should decide that it wants me to lead, I will make the fight; but I will not make a pre-convention campaign to secure the support of delegates.

"By action of the Democratic National Convention of 1928 I am the leader of my party in the nation. With a full sense of the responsibility thereby imposed, I shall not in advance of the convention either support or oppose the candidacy of any aspirant for the nomination.

"ALFRED E. SMITH."

GIRL, 7, SLAIN BY ATTACKER

Dorothy Lutz Choked to Death; Body Found in Vacant House

Philadelphia, Feb. 8 (AP)—In a dingy vacant house seven doors from her home, the body of seven year old Dorothy Lutz was found today—the victim of an attacker who choked her to death.

The child, who disappeared last Wednesday, after leaving her widowed mother, to go roller skating, was found on the bare floor of a room in the house.

A piece of her clothing had been stuffed down her throat. Another strip was bound over her mouth and tied at the back of her head. There were two long cuts on her face.

Four men and a women, all negroes, were arrested as suspects several hours after the discovery. Another man who had been arrested last Saturday on a charge of being disorderly near a home for girls was subjected to further questioning.

Dead Several Days

Two policemen working on a house-to-house check of the neighborhood found the body after forcing their way through a cellar window.

The child's mother, Mrs. Florence Lutz, and Mrs. Lutz's father, Miles Hood, 72, collapsed when they learned of the discovery. Mrs. Lutz' husband, Peter, an apartment house janitor, died three weeks ago.

Police said the child had been dead several days and in all probability had been in the room since last Friday.

Investigators said they believed the assailant seized the child, dragged her into a court and strangled her there. It was believed he then dragged the body through a window.

Several hundred persons rushed against police lines about the house after the body was found. Here and there were heard threats against the killer, should he be captured.

Pope Favors Optimism as Lenten Theme

Vatican City, Feb. 8 (AP)—Expressing sorrow over the "always greater pessimism" of world conferences on disarmament and reparations, Pope Pius today suggested the preaching of optimism in Lenten services.

The divine word that "a man shall be punished in those same things by which he sinned" has come true, the pontiff asserted. The "impotence of man" has been shown by events, he said, revealing that "help from the hand of God is indispensable."

The pontiff urged therefore that preachers spread not pessimism but optimism and seek to "fortify souls."

One Bright Spot

"There is a new paganism," the pope said, "a materilization in all walks of life. Men still think that money is everything. They seek it as a means of enjoyment, to power and to domination. Thus, as St. Gregory the great said man's riches are become his thorns.' "

Referring again to conferences on disarmament, the pontiff said the world anxiously awaited results, but its hopes were "oppressed by affliction." "But everything is in the hands of God," he asserted.

The world crisis, unemployment and other problems common to all countries were suggested as subjects for lenten preachers.

Although the pontiff found one bright spot in "the revival of charity, the competition, the contest to give aid," he declared that statistics on unemployment and of real hunger that "in some countries is really crushing," plainly showed the necessity for God's help.

Seaplane On M-2 Brought to Surface

Portland, England, Feb. 8. (AP)—The seaplane from the sunken British submarine M-2, which some experts believe indirectly caused the death of the 61 officers and men who went down in the boat, was brought to the surface of the English channel today after hours of difficult and dangerous work.

Earlier in the salvaging operations the door of the seaplane's hangar on the submarine deck was found to be open, indicating that water had flowed in there after the submarine dived 11 days ago and was lost.

Message Reveals Fate Of Schooner

Marshfield, Ore., Feb. 8. (AP)—Mystery surrounding the disappearance last September of the auxiliary schooner the South Coast is cleared, the Coos Bay Times said today in a copyrighted article, by discovery of a sealed message dropped into the sea by one of the crew of 19.

The paper said the message, scrawled on a scrap of wrapping paper, and enclosed in a catsup bottle, read:

"S. S. South Coast going down after explosion when boiler blew up. Rough seas. 9:10 p. m. Good bye."

Dorothy Gish Ill At New York Hospital

FUR SMUGGLING PROBE RESUMED

Judge Moll Indicates He Will Move Inquiry to Soo and Munising

Newberry, Mich., Feb. 8 (AP)—Investigating of a reported million dollar fur smuggling ring was resumed here today by Judge Lester S. Moll, sitting as a one-man grand jury, with indications that the inquiry here would be completed tomorrow.

Then, it was believed tonight, the Wayne county jurist will move the inquiry to Sault Ste. Marie with another move to Munising probable if developments justify continuance. Forty-three witnesses have been heard thus far.

E. C. Underwood, chairman of the Luce county board of supervisors, proprietor of a fur farm and defendant in a pending illegal fur possession charge, was a witness today. Beaver pelts seized when his residence was searched nearly three weeks ago were produced in court. Underwood has denied the possession charge and has caused a warrant to be issued charging a state conservation department investigator with perjury.

William Eddy, caretaker of Underwood's fur farm, Mrs. Dan Morton, Peshems gasoline station proprietor, and Irwin Williams, serving a sentence for game law violation, were other witnesses.

Sam Braude, Sault Ste. Marie fur dealer, still was in jail today on a contempt charge.

CHINESE HOLD WOOSUNG; JAPS HIT AT CHAPEI

NEUTRAL ZONE IDEA FROWNED ON BY UNITED STATES

(By The Associated Press)

Japanese forces, repulsed at Woosung, turned their attack today back on the crushed section of Chapei in Shanghai, strongly held by Chinese defenders.

The first phase of the Japanese bluejacket and army assault along the 16-mile Shanghai-Woosung line came to an end this morning with the Chinese, battered by big guns and assaulted by infantrymen, still clinging to their positions.

The Japanese failed to carry out their plan to reduce the Woosung fortress and then sweep on toward Shanghai.

The spirited defense of the Chinese demonstrated again one of the great lessons of the World War—that machine gunners can take cover against heavy bombardment and survive to stop assault lines with their bullet streams.

Chinese headquarters in Shanghai announced that 500 Japanese had been mowed down by machine guns on the Chapei front. The Japanese denied suffering any such losses.

The international settlement in the vicinity of Japanese headquarters and the municipal police station was badly damaged by Chinese shells.

Nomura Arrives

British troops barricaded Ranger road and thwarted a Japanese attempt to get to the Chinese rear. The British remained in an uncomfortable position, with the Japanese on one side of them and the Chinese on the other.

Military observers expected the Japanese to renew their assault on the Woosung forts today from positions on the west bank of the Woosung creek, to which they were forced back after they had succeeded in gaining a foothold in the village of Woosung.

Vice Admiral Nomura, replacing Rear Admiral Shiosawa who directed the original assault on Shanghai, arrived at the scene of operations on his flagship, the Izumo. He told foreign newspaper correspondents that the purpose of the Japanese navy was to protect the lives of Japanese nations, and promised that the Japanese would do their best to settle the Shanghai conflict "as quickly as possible in cooperation with the representatives of other countries."

The Tokyo cabinet approved a special appropriation of $14,500,000 to pay for the activities of the army and navy in the Shanghai area and to cover certain small operations in Manchuria.

Neutral Zone Idea

A spokesman for Japan said the Japanese proposal that neutral zones be established around the chief commercial cities of China should convince the powers that Japan "has no intention of attempting any measure of

British Airplanes Sighted In Desert

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 8 (AP)—Two of three British Royal Air force planes forced down in the Syrian desert during a snow storm Saturday have been located from the air by fliers in their corps. All the occupants were reported alive and well and in friendly hands near Imtan.

Keen anxiety was felt for the aviators in the third plane which has been so far unreported except vaguely by a traveler who saw the plane descending east of the Sea of Galilee. Intense cold still prevailed in the region.

K-C Provides Funds For Quake Relief

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 8, (AP)—Martin H. Carmody, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, said today the organization had provided funds for the relief of orphans and aged under the care of nuns of Santiago, Cuba.

The relief funds were appropriated after Archbishop Zubizaretta of Santiago had reported to Mr. Carmody "that repeated earthquakes have rendered nearly every building uninhabitable, that 70,000 persons have fled the city, that 10,000 are threatened with death from starvation, and that more relief is needed."

Knox Outlines Plans to Free Hoarded Gold

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—An intensive campaign—spread nationwide—to bring hoarded money back into circulation by "restoring the confidence of Americans in America" was outlined today at the White House by the man who will head it, Colonel Frank Knox of Chicago.

Sitting in an office adjourning that of the chief executive, he announced his ideas for "a quick campaign done against the clock and going down to the grass roots of every community."

He gave the following diagnosis of present difficulties:

"Much of our trouble seems to be a national headache induced by eyestrain from looking across the Atlantic. We can't remedy conditions in Europe, but we can remedy them here."

The Chicago publisher estimated that 92½ percent of the articles produced in this country are consumed in the domestic market, with only 7½ percent shipped abroad.

"If necessary," he said, "we could toss this 7½ percent out of the window and still lead the world back to prosperity. If once we restore confidence at home 90 percent of our troubles are over."

To Unite Agencies

Meanwhile other agencies for national relief moved forward. Directors of the $2,000,000,000 reconstruction finance corporation conferred with members of congress from agricultural states and held an extended parley with Secretary Hyde on agricultural loans.

Knox, in outlining plans for his campaign, said telegrams already had been dispatched to every state looking toward the choice of "aggressive individuals who have the confidence of the people" to head each state committee. Each will be charged with setting up an organization in every community, he said, uniting in the community newspapers, boards of trade, the American Legion, Rotary, Kiwanis, American Federation of Labor and

HIGHWAY CRASH PROVES FATAL

Harold Chollette, 24, Dies at Escanaba Hospital Monday

Injuries received Saturday night in a highway accident near Schaffer proved fatal to Harold Cholette, 24, of 414 South 19th. He died Monday morning at St. Francis hospital.

With Ehure Pearson, Hardwood, Cholette was going north of highway 69 in a truck driven by the former when they crashed into the rear of a delivery truck from John Gauthier's store, Bark River, driven by Leo Guindon. The latter truck was parked to the left of the road, also headed north, according to information given to officers of the sheriff's department. Guindon said he stopped to call at the Frank Porath farm to see if any groceries were needed there. Both drivers said that their lights were in good condition. Guindon, who had alighted from his truck just prior to the crash, was unhurt, and Pearson received only minor injuries, although he was unconscious when brought to the hospital. Cholette received a fractured pelvic bone, spinal fracture, and other internal injuries. An inquest will be held Wednesday at 3 p. m. in the city hall, officers announced.

Harold Cholette, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Benjamin Cholette, was born in Escanaba, March 31, 1907. He attended the rural school at Northland, later at Hardwood, and completed his education at St. Norbert's, De Pere, Wis. Up to a year ago he had been employed at the Case plant in Racine. He was a member of the Foster City branch of the Holy Name society. Besides his parents, two sisters, Mrs. Hazel Atherton (Madella), Monroe, Mich., and Miss Katherine Cholette at home.

3-Story Factory Destroyed By Fire

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—A spectacular fire today destroyed a three-story factory building at 676 West Grand Boulevard, occupied by the American Nut company and the Harry W. Dietert company, manufacturers of foundry equipment, causing damage estimated by company officials at nearly $200,000.

Twenty-seven employes of the two concerns were forced to flee from the building when the flames were discovered in the basement. The fire spread rapidly, and despite a fourth-alarm sounded by the fire department the building was destroyed. Other buildings nearby were saved.

Firemen said the blaze spread to oil tanks in the basement, causing rapid destruction of the building. No one was injured.

Beaumont, Texas, Feb. 8 (AP)—Three men were shot to death in the frustration of a jail break in Newton, Texas, tonight.

Coast guardsmen had searched unsuccessfully for the vessel which was 24 hours overdue when found.

Officials of the fish company said they believed the tug had been delayed by motor trouble.

SLAYER CALM AS SHE HEARS JURY VERDICT

ONLY TWO BALLOTS NEEDED TO COME TO DECISION

BY RALPH O. BROWN

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 8 (AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd was speedily convicted of murder tonight and the death penalty was prescribed by the all-male jury which heard her trial for the trunk murder of Mrs. Agnes Anne LeRoi, her friend.

Without a tremor the pale young defendant heard the verdict and then went steadily to her cell ahead of Sheriff J. R. McFadden and a trailing throng of spectators.

The sheriff expressed fear she would attempt suicide before February 23, the date set by Judge Howard C. Speakman for pronouncement of sentence. A murder charge against Mrs. Judd for the slaying of Miss Hedvig Samuelson is held in abeyance.

To Appeal Verdict

The habitual winding and unwinding of her handkerchief about her left hand did not cease as the jury filed into the court room after being out three hours and 40 minutes, an hour of which was taken for dinner.

Staring out of countenance the group of men huddled along the corridors, Mrs. Judd walked unassisted to her cell. Sheriff McFadden said the first thing she did was to look into her mirror. He expressed the belief that she soon would give way to another emotional outbreak such as those she had during the trial.

The murder verdict and extreme penalty demanded by the prosecution was decided upon despite the appeal of the defense for a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity. Judge Speakman had instructed the jurors that they might return any one of six verdicts, including second degree murder, manslaughter, not guilty by reason of insanity, and not guilty.

Defense Attorneys Paul Schenck and Herman Lewkowitz announced they would appeal. Should the penalty prescribed by the verdict be imposed, Mrs. Judd would die on the gallows at the state penitentiary.

HISTORY OF CASE

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 8 (AP)—Two sinister looking trunks arriving in Los Angeles from Phoenix last October 19, gave up the dissected bodies of Agnes Anne LeRoi and Hedvig Samuelson, and resulted four days later in the surrender to police of Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, erstwhile friend of the slain women.

Mrs. Judd had attempted to claim the trunks in the Los Angeles Southern Pacific railway station. She fled when Railway men declined to release the trunks unless they were opened. Blood was seeping from them.

When the trunks were opened the same day, the bodies were found together with a hodgepodge of correspondence and several photographs which served tentatively to identify the victims.

Portions of Miss Samuelson's body were found in a suit case Mrs. Judd had left in the care of a negro maid in the women's waiting room of the station.

Within an hour, it was established in Phoenix that Mrs.

VOTE NEARS ON DIRECT AID BILL

Demos Offer Measure to Substitute LaFollette Plan

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Confident they can beat proposals for direct federal aid to the jobless, Republican leaders listened quietly today to criticism of the $375,000,000 LaFollette-Costigan bill and praise of the $750,000,000 Democratic substitute.

Senator Black (D., Ala.), said the provisions of the $375,000,000 measure calling for its distribution by a federal board, would contribute to bureaucracy and would send "snoopers" into the homes of citizens.

Meanwhile another relief measure—the proposal to distribute 40,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat to the needy—was stranded in the house.

It had already passed the senate but the house agriculture committee voted against it, 14 to 9, Chairman Jones of the committee indicating that some of his group felt the wheat should be bought from the farmers.

Offers New Plan

The sponsors of the direct aid bill, Senators LaFollette, (R., Wis.), and Costigan, (D., Col.), took all of last week in urging its passage, and the opposition expressed itself for the first time in the words of Senator Black.

He said "the strong assistance of the federal government is needed" in relief efforts but advocated the bill sponsored by Democratic leaders calling for $375,000,000 for loans to states for relief and an equal sum for road construction.

A vote on both relief bills is expected about the middle of the week and meantime several new substitute measures are being considered.

Black contended the Democratic bill would not only provide relief, but through its road funds would give work to more than 1,000,000 men for over a month.

He centered his attack on provisions of the LaFollette-Costigan measure for supervision of the relief expenditures by a federal board and the chief of the children's bureau.

"This organization," he said "would turn the last vestige of state control over the home to a bureau at Washington."

Black said the $375,000,000 bill had no limitation on the amount that could be used for administration and asserted money "supposed to be used to feed the hungry would go to those in Washington hungry for office."

National Hockey League Refuses Playoff Series

Montreal, Que., Feb. 8, (AP)—The National Hockey League will forfeit the Stanley cup rather than take part in a post-season series with the American League, Frank Calder, National League president, predicted tonight.

Reaffirming his views of the recent challenge from the American League accepted by the Stanley cup trustees, Calder declared that if the trustees persisted in letting the challenge stand "we would forfeit the trophy and I think 80 per cent of the league governors will support me."

"Moreover we have already been offered another cup valued at $1,000 by a prominent sportsman to replace the Stanley cup if it goes out of competition or to the 'outlaw' league," Calder added.

Copulos Takes Lead In Billiard Playoff

Chicago, Feb. 8 (AP)—Gus Copulos today gained the first advantage in the world three cushion billiards tournament playoff for fourth place by defeating Frank Scoville, Buffalo, N. Y., 50 to 30, in 49 innings.

With his eye on the fourth-place prize of $1,500, Copulos took the lead early, held it all the way, and finished things up abruptly with an unfinished run of ten. Scoville's best was six. Scoville will meet Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., tomorrow afternoon in the second match of the playoff, and Copulos will meet Layton in the final match tomorrow night.

KNOX OUTLINES PLANS TO FREE HOARDED GOLD

other groups.

Colonel Knox hinted the plan might involve some attractive magnet for pulling out the estimated $1,500,000,000 in hoarding, but said no outline of it could be given until it was "copper-riveted and complete."

"We must convince each individual," he said, "that for his own selfish interest he must have confidence in his own institutions and that the effect of withdrawing money from them results in economic strangulation."

Knox said he would leave the capital tomorrow after a conference with Acting Secretary Mills of the treasury and that headquarters for the drive would be created in Chicago.

The reconstruction corporation today laid down regulations governing loans. Specifically excepting advances to the railroads, the directors ruled that loans would be made for such periods as the corporation may approve, having regard to the circumstances of each case, no loan will be made for longer than three years.

Application forms for loans will be made available through corporation representatives in the various federal reserve banks and branches. These applications, with statements of financial status and securities in proper form, must be filed by the borrower with the nearest loan agency, which in turn will transmit it to the Washington office with recommendations.

Representatives Knutson (R., Minn.), and Strong (R., Kan.), headed the delegation which urged the corporation to establish a division in its organization especially charged with the handling of loans for agriculture. Knutson said his proposals had been received in a friendly spirit.

The delegation requested that loan committees be set up in the various agricultural states consisting of men closely affiliated and thoroughly conversant wtih rural bank and credit needs of their states.

HOPE BANKERS WILL LEND AID

Detroit Needs Loan from New York to Pass Financial Crisis

Detroit, Feb. 8, (AP)—Back from New York where he and Mayor Frank Murphy conferred with bankers, Controller G. Hall Roosevelt said today he expected New York financiers to lend the city $5,000,000 on a six months note. Bids on such a loan will be opened Thursday, he said, and the money is expected to be received in time to meet February 15 payrolls.

The bankers refused last week to extend the city further credit, creating an emergency which, officials said, jeopardized payrolls.

Emergency Program

Roosevelt outlined a program he said would meet with approval of the bankers. It includes collection of $1,000,000 in delinquent personal taxes, $2,100,000 in general delinquent taxes and $1,100,000 in delinquent special taxes. He proposed a tax sale which he estimated would bring in $1,900,000.

He also outlined an emergency program, based upon voluntary service without pay by city employes for brief periods which, he said, would save another $3,200,000 as a laset resort.

There was strenuous opposition in a council meeting today to the tax sale proposal.

Mayor Murphy and Controller Roosevelt said the bankers desired the recommendation of the civilian committee on city finances before changing their position and Chairman Ralph Stone called the committee into session for tomorrow to consider the proposed new economies.

Wisconsin GOP Men Approve President

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 8 (AP)—Support for President Hoover's candidacy was voted in a resolution adopted at a state conference of Wisconsin conservative Republican leaders here today.

The conference also selected seven delegates at large to be presented at the April 5 primary.

The conference in a resolution urged the Wisconsin delegation to the National Republican convention next June, "use every honorable means to have included in the National Republican platform of 1932, a clear cut declaration on the subject of prohibition and the eighteenth amendment, to the effect that the people of the United States be given the opportunity to express their opinion, divorced from all other political subjects on the question of prohibition."

Investigate Story Women Living In School Dormitory

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 8 (AP)—Yale university officials said today they were investigating the alleged connection of 24 Sheffield Scientific school students with the case of Edith Nasella, 17, of Philadelphia, arrested last week after the Yale News columnist reported a young woman was living in a "warm Yale dormitory."

"Reports that a large number of students in the Sheffield Scientific school have been suspended are untrue," Dean Charles H. Warren said. "An investigation is now being made."

Meanwhile City Attorney Daniel Pouzzner said the students will not face a grand jury inquiry, because of "conflicting and unreliable testimony" by the young woman when she was committed Saturday to the House of the Good Shepherd at Hartford.

At a hearing in city court chambers she refused to name the students whose rooms she was alleged to have visited.

Deny Report Liner Shelled Near China

Shanghai, Feb. 9 (Tuesday) (AP)—O. G. Stean, general manager here of the Dollar Steamship Line, denied a report today that the liner President Madison had been shelled as it was entering Shanghai harbor.

The skippers of the President Madison told him after the ship arrived here, he said, that all was quiet as the liner passed Woosung, center of fighting between Chinese and Japanese, on its way to Shanghai.

SLAYER CALM AS SHE HEARS JURY VERDICT

LeRoi, X-ray technician of a clinic at which Mrs. Judd also was employed and Miss Samuelson, tuberculosis convalescent, had not been seen for three days.

Mrs. Judd Disappears

Investigators found bloodstains in the bedroom and kitchen of the apartment of the two missing women at 2929 North Second street, Phoenix.

Mrs. Judd's landlord said he and his son hauled two trunks, a suitcase and a hat box to the station Sunday, October 18, Mrs. Judd accompanying them.

Questioned by the district baggage master when she appeared to claim her baggages, Mrs. Judd left the Los Angeles station ostensibly to obtain keys to open the trunks, and was seen no more until she surrendered four days later.

It later was disclosed Mrs. Judd had spent most of the time dodging from floor to floor of a Los Angeles department store.

From a clogged drain pipe of the store plumbers took a bedraggled letter, purporting to be a confession of Mrs. Judd addressed to her husband, Dr. William C. Judd, then in Los Angeles. It described the killings as perpetrated in self-defense at the climax of a quarrel.

Arizona authorities, in their reconstruction of the crime, decided the women had been shot as they lay in their bed, about 10:30 p. m. October 16—the death wounds inflicted with an automatic pistol found in the hatbox Mrs. Judd carried with her to Los Angeles. Each woman had died from a gunshot wound in the head.

Coolidge and Life Insurance Company In $100,000 Suit

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 8 (AP)—Former President Calvin Colidge and the New York Life Insurance company, of which he is a director, have been named co-defendants in a suit for $100,000 brought against them by Lewis B. Tebbetts, St. Louis insurance man. The papers were served on Mr. Coolidge at his home in Northampton today by Sheriff Henry J. Sargent of Hampshire county, it was announced by Attorney Charles Weinberg, of this city, acting for St. Louis attorneys retained by Tebbetts.

A summons was served on the New York Life Insurance company on January 15 through Insurance Commissioner Merton L. Brown in Boston requiring the company to appear before Hampshire county superior court in Northampton, Monday, March 7.

According to Mr. Weinberg, his client is a proponent of "term insurance," or insurance for protection only. Tebbetts alleges that Mr. Coolidge, in a radio talk on October 6, 1931, indirectly referred to him and his insurance methods, and that these remarks were afterward published in pamphlet form by the New York Life Insurance company and widely distributed. He claims that his reputation as an honest insurance agent has been injured and greatly damaged.

Diplomatic circles in Washington interpreted the neutral zone proposal as little short of dismemberment of China and its partition among foreign powers. Ambassador Debuchi of Japan called at the state department and subsequently said he had not received instructions from his government to advance the suggestion.

Nine hundred refugees from the Chapei section of Shanghai arrived in Nanking, where they were put aboard trains for the north. Officials hoped that they would be absorbed in various towns.

"Did you go?"

"Yes, I did."

"Did you talk politics?"

"No, it was purely social. We didn't have time to talk politics. He was leaving early and I was in a hurry."

Handing his silk hat to a secretary, the 1928 standard bearer started turning over a sheaf of telegrams on his desk.

"I suppose I'll have a bunch of this stuff now," he said.

"Is there one from the governor?" someone asked.

"I didn't see it if there was," Smith replied, and added:

"Of course, I haven't been through them all."

"Are you likely to stick to your declaration that you will accept the nomination?"

"I can only speak as of today," he replied.

He was told his statement had been interpreted in some quarters as a declaration that he wished to "rule or ruin" his party.

"That's senseless," Smith replied indignantly. "Anyone who knows my record of 30 years square dealing won't believe that."

No Real Campaign

In stating he was "not being a candidate," the former governor said:

"In 1924 and 1928 my friends were out working for delegates for me. I was a candidate then. In 1932 there is no such thing."

He was reminded that in some states men pledged to vote for him in the convention were seeking election as delegates.

"I can't help it," Smith said "if men, to gain leadership for themselves, say they will support me.

"You remember what happened in 1920. I was not a candidate, but the best speech at the convention was the one Bourke Cockran made nominating me.

"What would you have done had you been nominated then?" he was asked.

"I'd have gone and got the brown derby and got busy."

Commenting on reports he was attempting to "line up the field against Roosevelt," Smith said.

"I'm not for or against anyone. That stands until the convention."

He was asked if he thought the attitude toward him in the south had changed in the last four years and replied:

"I have no opinion on that. I've been down there only once in the two years and that wasn't a political trip."

"I'm going to work and tend to business now," he said in closing. "All you'll get from me after this is a 'good afternoon.'"

Meanwhile, Governor Roosevelt left for Albany without commenting on the Smith statement.

"I'm trying to run the state government," he said, "and that's enough of a job."

MRS. MASSIE SEEKS JUSTICE

Says She Will Testify at Retrial of Alleged Attack

BY WILLIAM H. EWING
(Associated Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright 1932, By The Associated Press)

Honolulu, Feb. 8, (AP)—Mrs. Thomas H. Massie will remain here to testify at the retrial of four men of mixed blood accused of attacking her, she said today in her first public statement since the alleged attack last September.

"It is not vengeance I want," she said, "but justice."

At the first trial there were five defendants. A jury disagreed. Then one of the five, Joseph Kahahawai, an Hawaiian, was lynched, causing the arrest of Mrs. Massie's husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie of the navy; Mrs. Granville Fortescue, prominent American society woman and Mrs. Massie's mother, and two navy enlisted men.

The four co-defendants in the lynching case are awaiting trial in circuit court here. They are at liberty on bond.

"I want not only justice for myself, but for all the women of Honolulu," said Mrs. Massie. "Not until justice is done and all rapists are convicted and sentenced can we, the women of this city, feel safe at all times in our homes and on the street.

"In order that justice may be done, I stand ready to testify again whenever the so-called Ala Moana case may come up for trial.

"I can not bear to think that some other girl might have to go through what I went through at the hands of the men who assaulted me."

BELCHING

Belching Made Him An Outcast

He was a clean-cut, clever, likeable chap, but his friends carefully avoided him. Business associates were not always so tactful. His life was miserable because belching, one of the forms of hyperacidity (excess acid) in addition to the physical discomfiture, virtually made him an outcast.

Vast numbers of people today, because of the way we live and the acid-forming foods we eat, are victims of an acid condition of the stomach and intestines. Belching, indigestion, gas, heartburn, sick headaches, biliousness, loss of sleep, pain after eating, indicate the need of correcting the acid condition of the stomach and intestines.

There is no need for anyone to have the offensive habit of belching or any of the rest of these torturing troubles. Markay's Tablets offer quick and certain relief by neutralizing the hyperacidic condition and re-establishing the normal alkalinity of the system. Know today how easily acidity can be routed.

Blizzard Hits At Newberry Sunday

With a thirty to thirty-five mile gale blowing, a snow storm started in this locality Sunday night, calling out the snow plows about ten o'clock. So bad was the visibility that many of the plows went into the ditch and one received a punctured radiator when another one, just pulled from the ditch, backed into it. No one was hurt.

Highway Engineer S. C. Sleeper reports that all trunk lines are passable but that there is bad going in many places because of constant drifting. The Deer Park road, open most of the winter for the first time in a half century, is closed this morning and mail expected to come in on Monday will be delayed until it is reopened. It is expected that a plow will open it as far as second Dawson Creek where a truck with a crew of shovelers from Deer Park will dig it out.

Ernest Fosterling Held for Forgery

Ernest Fosterling, of Lathrop, was arraigned before Judge T. A. Thoren Saturday morning on a charge of obtaining money by means of a forged check. He pleaded not guilty and demanded an examination.

Fosterling, arrested by state police officers, was released on bonds of $500 and his examination probably will be held next Saturday morning before Judge Thoren.

The arrest of Fosterling resulted from a transaction in October, when a companion, whose whereabouts are unknown, presented a check, drawn on the Trenary bank, at a small store conducted by Joseph Marcotte at Lathrop. Marcotte, being unable to read, questioned the wisdom of accepting the check and it was through Fosterling's assistance that he cashed it, as the latter, supposed to be a friend of his, informed him it was good.

The attention of the forgery was called to Corporal Jack Miller, of the state police, who, with the assistance of the Trenary bank and Mrs. Marcotte, located Fosterling and brought about his arrest. The authorities hope to locate the other man in the case later.

EDITORIAL

SMITH'S INTENTIONS MADE KNOWN

ALTHOUGH there was much speculation as to former Governor Alfred E. Smith's position in the 1932 presidential campaign, the contents of his long-awaited statement, made public yesterday, were not altogether unexpected. Since his defeat by Hoover in 1928, Smith has never at any time said he would not be a candidate again; and in recent months, his coolness toward Governor Roosevelt and his non-committal attitude with respect to the candidacies of other presidential asapirants of his own party could be taken as indications of nothing but a desire to occupy the White House himself.

Smith's announcement that, although he would not do any pre-convention campaigning for the Democratic nomination, he would gladly be his party's standard bearer if the honor is proferred him by the coming national convention in Chicago, certainly will have considerable effect on the fortunes of Governor Roosevelt. Up to now, the present New York governor has been considered by leading political observers to have the best chances for the nomination, although they have not lost sight of the large following that Smith still has. Since to receive the nomination, a Democratic candidate must receive two-thirds of the votes of the convention, it can be clearly foreseen that Roosevelt will have a tight on his hands. The probability of the entance of a dark-horse in the race now appears great.

The Democratic party has a wealth of presidential timber for the 1932 race. Others who have admitted their aspirations are Governor Ritchie of Maryland, Newton D. Baker, the secretary of war during Wilson's administration, and "Alfalfa Bill" Murray. Both Ritchie and Baker have been receiving the praise of the press and are gathering such support that their candidacies will have to be reckoned with. Then, there are Owen D. Young, noted financier and industrialist, Melvin A. Traylor, the Chicago banker, former Senator James Reed, and a few other Democratic leaders who loom up as potential candidates.

No matter whom the Democrats nominate this year, conditions will be much more favorable for them than in the past, since the Republican party will have suffered losses of support because of dissatisfaction over the economic depression, for which the Republicans are blamed, rightfully or not.

KNOX APPOINTED

UPPER peninsula friends of Col. Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, receive news of his appointment as chairman of the anti-hoarding committee with much satisfaction and with confidence that he will do a good job of putting the hidden money into circulation.

It will be recalled that Colonel Knox is another of that illustrious group of upper peninsula newspapermen who made good in the field of metropolitan journalism. He served at one time as managing editor of the Sault Ste Marie News, and before becoming associated with the Chicago Daily News served about four years as editorial director of the Hearst chain of newspapers. He also has an interest in the Manchester (N. H.) Union-Leader, which recently erected a large, modern plant.

Colonel Knox is qualified from his long experience as a newspaperman to direct the campaign against the hoarding of money in this country. The work will be mostly educational, and will require the cooperation of everyone to accomplish the desired results. The more than a billion dollars that is being kept out of circulation is doing no good, and, in fact, is doing a lot of harm. It is slowing up business for people are refraining from buying the goods they need, even though the time was never better from the price standpoint than now.

Hoarding is contagious, too. When one sees his neighbor putting the dough in the old sock, it is natural that he will tighten up on his spending. As a result, goods stay on the shelves, factories remain idle, and unemployment continues. If we are to get out of this depression, the consumer must not go on a buying strike. He must not be extravagant, of course, but if he is financially able he should satisfy his normal wants and continue on the even tenor of his way.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

C. W. HUNGERFORD, advertising manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, writes to the Escanaba Daily Press that his company is planning to run a schedule of advertisements in about two hundred and fifty Michigan newspapers to tell of the advantages offered by this state as a winter playground.

Mr. Hungerford states that a similar newspaper advertising campaign the last four summers, exploiting the natural advantages as a summer vacation-land, brought splendid results. Anything that can be done to advertise the state, the Michigan Bell company feels, will redound to its benefit in increased revenue from its telephone service.

The Michigan Bell Telephone company is a strong believer in newspaper advertising, as is proven by the fact that it has not reduced its appropriations for this type of promotion during these trying times. It realizes that the newspaper is the backbone of the community. It is the only agency, catering to those who advertise, that cooperates in the solution of local problems, helps to bring in new industries and attract new business. The radio, magazines and other advertising media can never do for a community what its newspaper does.

THE FIRST AUTO

A NEW ENGLAND newspaperman, examining old newspaper files the other day, discovered that one Joseph Manton, of Providence, actually invented an automobile as long ago as 1866; a steam-driven car that was crude, cumbersome and awkward, but that managed, nevertheless, to accomplish a fairly lengthy cross-country road trip without mishap.

Manton, the files related, was highly proud of his contrivance, but he saw no commercial possibilities in it and eventually stored his car and gave up the idea.

Before the great development of the auto could be possible, the internal combustion engine had to be invented. And yet—suppose that Manton's car had caught the imagination of science and industry, so that the research and experimentation that ultimately perfected the gasoline motor could have been applied to the small steam engine; would we, today be driving steam cars?

THE DIME-A-DANCE GIRL

(By NEA Service) BY JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, who works by day as a sales-girl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE. Irresponsible Molly has long ago squandered the fortune left by her English husband and the two girls support the family.

Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. Ellen decides to work at night as a dance hall hostess until the sum is made up. She goes to Dreamland and interviews JACOB SALOMON who offers her a job on condition that she supply her own evening dresses. She has no evening dress.

STEVEN BARCLAY, Ellen's employer, sees her crying and asks her to come to his office. When she tells him the situation he offers to give her a dress. She proudly refuses. He then lends her one of the dresses worn by the store models.

Ellen is half-pleased, half-frightened by Barclay's obvious interest in her. She dines with him and he drives her to Dreamland where he leaves her. Salomon introduces her to the other hostesses. Ellen hates the cheapness of Dreamland. Two of the hostesses, TONY and ANISE, wait for her to dress.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V

Ellen sensed the antagonism of the two girls. She ignored it. They were staring at the ivory gown. Let them stare! Her own pleasure in the gown had evaporated. She neither knew nor cared how beautiful she looked in the soft ivory taffeta which swept the floor around her.

Tony, bright-eyed, small and brunet, was barely covered by a wisp of chiffon which clearly revealed her breasts and young, unformed legs. Her sigh of admiration, a purely feminine sigh, turned swiftly to envy as feminine.

"The competition is going to be fierce tonight," she whispered loudly to her platinum-haired companion.

"Maybe she thinks she's going to be presented at Buckingham Palace," countered Anise, flipping her cigaret to the floor.

Tony chuckled gleefully.

"The queen herself," she giggled. "And in a dress from Chantel or I'll eat my favorite lipstick."

The youngster jumped to her feet, ran across the room and before Ellen understood her purpose she had pulled the back of the dress to examine the label.

"It is a Chantel," she confirmed in an awed tone. And to Ellen, "How come you wear a dress from Chantel to dance in a dump like this?"

Ellen felt like tearing off the dress and stamping on it. She was angry and humiliated. A good part of her anger was directed at herself. She should have known better than to select so unsuitable a costume merely because it was becoming. She had come to Dreamland to work—not to play. Play time was for girls who were protected and cared for—for girls who would have been scornfully amused at the notion of dancing at Dreamland to earn money for rent.

"Go away," she fiercely addressed Tony. "Go away and let me alone. And take your hands off my dress!"

"Aw, I'm sorry if I hurt your feelings," apologized Tony, with a contrite, distressed little laugh. "Honestly I'm sorry. Don't be sore. I was only fooling. You look swell."

Her small face was puckered with earnestness. She slipped her brown hand into Ellen's hand and grinned up at her engagingly. Anyone would have forgiven Tony in that mood, as Tony well knew. Ellen forgave readily. She thought Tony a good-hearted youngster for all her defiant hardness, worth a dozen of the anguishing Anise.

Anise was still sulky and aggrieved when the three girls walked into the ballroom. But Tony had forgotten completely that she had ever been jealous of Ellen and was eagerly babbling out amazingly sophisticated advice and instructions.

The hostesses sat at empty tables, one girl to a table, and waited for men to ask them to dance. Most of the girls had regular patrons. Tony's instructions dealt in part with methods for "cinching regulars." These men would buy a whole string of tickets for the privilege of dancing with a particular girl for an hour or so. After each of the short dances—the fastest couples barely managed three turns of the room before the orchestra stopped—the girl would gravely detach one of the tickets from the long string proffered by her escort.

Ellen took a table close to Tony's. But Tony was gone almost immediately, away like a green flash in the arms of a tall youth. She made a very ugly face over her partner's shoulder to indicate to Ellen that she did not favor him.

Ellen sat alone for some time. The music, once she became accustomed to its loudness, made her want to dance. She was surprised to observe that for once in her life she was an undeniable wallflower. The large majority of the other tables were quickly evacuated. Still no one asked her to dance.

A great many of the men who stood around the walls watching the dancers or waiting their turn with Sunny or Anise or Tony or Maybelle glanced toward her but no one approached. Ellen's very beauty and air of cool aloofness intimidated them. At last a bold spirit sought out Salomon and came over for an introduction. As she acknowledged the introduction Ellen realized there were worse things than sitting alone at a table while others danced.

One of them was dancing with Joseph K. Landis. He was clumsy. He was crude. He held her so tightly that she could hardly breathe. He pressed his damp face against her cool cheek no matter how insistently she sought to avoid the juxtaposition. And all the time he babbled in her ear inane compliments.

"Where've you been all my life, little one? At home taking care of the kids? I thought so. A pretty little thing like you should have a better fate. Take me for instance—go right ahead and take me. I'll see you don't get trampled in the rush."

"You're holding me too tightly," she said furiously.

"Naughty, naughty! You're not supposed to talk. I can hold you tighter than this. See."

He closed his arms around her, moved his face forward and kissed her squarely on the lips. Ellen struggled free, slapped him across the mouth and was off the floor and back at her table before Joseph K. Landis thoroughly understood what had happened.

Jacob Salomon was very angry. He stood before Ellen's table, his feet wide apart, his arms gesticulating, as he explained in detail how angry he was.

"I don't care if he did try to kiss you," he snapped. "That was no reason for socking him. You gotta treat patrons decent. Kid 'em along, give 'em a good time. That's what you're here for, young woman."

Ellen was angry, too.

"I came here to dance, Mr. Salomon, not to be mauled," she retorted, her eyes flashing, her lips pale with anger. "He didn't try to kiss me. He did kiss me."

She got up from the table and had begun to say that Salomon could find another girl to take her place, one more amenable to his ideas, when she saw that there was a small disturbance near the door.

Three men had entered and were grouped near the ticket booth. The two in evening clothes plainly wished to leave but the third, the one in flannels, just as plainly wished to stay. Suddenly Ellen saw him detach himself from his companions and push his way toward the spot where she and Salomon stood. He came straight across the crowded floor, regardless of the dancers annoyed by his transit.

He was a young man of 26 or 27 with a countenance in which eagerness was oddly mixed with something almost like boredom. His hair was thick and red. Ellen had a strange feeling that she would always remember his progress across the floor, that it would remain forever fixed in her mind, unchangeable.

She continued talking to Salomon, who had his back to the newcomer, but she was hardly conscious of what she said. While she talked she was aware that all her attention was fixed upon that figure approaching and that she was asking herself the cause of the contradictions in his face, deciding it was due to the sulky bored mouth beneath such eager eyes. Were they blue or gray?

Jacob Salomon did not observe the young man until he was within a few steps of them. But he understood immediately.

"You're right," he muttered, half under his breath. "You should've socked him. Be more careful this time. This bird's class or I miss my guess."

Ellen stepped backward, all thought of leaving Dreamland gone.

She had the strangest feeling that she wanted to prolong the moment of waiting. She was like a child on Christmas morning hesitating at the stairway-head before plunging down to the glittering tree. She saw Salomon

LYRICS OF LIFE

SO IT SEEMS

(From a Massachusetts reader: Why do those we love the most often hurt us most?")

Why do those who love the most
Seem to hurt us most of all?
We can listen to the most
Clamoring without the wall
And not care—the deepest dart
Hurled against the human heart,
So it seems, no strange throws
But some hand one loves and knows.

So it seems that love can hate,
Love can anger, love offend,
More than all without the gate,
Less the stranger than the friend.
Those we have affection for,
So it seems, will wound us more,
Wound us deeper, and more long,
Than the stranger in the throng.

In the question you will find
All the answer. Loving much,
Little matters seem unkind
That were never meant as such.
Even those unkindly meant
Are but random arrows sent.
We must catch upon the wide
Shield of love, and turn aside.

You must learn to better bear
Little hurts that come to you,
Trying not too much to care,
As it seems we often do.
Love, the over-sensitive,
Must be quickest to forgive,
Just believing no one dreams
Of hurting you, if so it seems.

Anniversary

SIGN UKRAINIAN PEACE

On Feb. 9, 1918, a treaty of peace was signed between the Ukrainian Republic and the Central Powers.

Germany, Austria - Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey were signatories of the Central Powers. In the preamble of the treaty the Ukrainian Republic declared its desire to "take the first step toward a lasting world's peace, honorable to all parties, which shall not only put an end to the horrors of war, but also lead to the restoration of friendly relations of the people in political, legal, economic and intellectual realms."

American prisoners were captured at Nivry on the western front, and the French repulsed German raids in the region of Nieuport and Juincourt and Moronvilliers.

'Looking Backward'

FEBRUARY 9, 1912

Walter Kemp will leave this morning for Chicago to take a position in one of the theatres there as drum and traps player. The lad for some time has been a member of the Boys' orchestra of this city and is considered to be one of the best trap manipulators developed in Escanaba.

Miss Hazel Fleming was surprised by a number of friends at the family home, 1119 Ludington street last night, the event being arranged in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

Emanual Olson, for several seasons acknowledged champion ten pin artist on what is known as the Brewery alleys at the Brewery saloon, met his downfall yesterday. Oscar Sederlund, who, it is claimed, never before handled an oak ball, was his opponent, and in three successive games, the amateur downed the champion by substantial margins. Mr. Olson openly charged that the alleys had been tampered with by friends of Mr. Sederlund.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Raymond.

Rehearsals have been started for the production of "Dad's Gal" which will be given for the benefit of St. Patrick's Church. Mrs. Ethel Jones is directing the cast.

William Walch, who attended Gordon's Business College, is now employed in the offices of the C. and N. W. Railway Company.

Edward Gross returned last night from an important business trip at Appleton, Milwaukee, Green Bay, Depere, Kaukauna and Laona, Wis.

CLUB APPROVES METER CHARGE

Unemployment Relief Plan Endorsed Monday at Special Meeting

The Escanaba Woman's Club, at a special meeting Monday afternoon in the Escanaba city hall, voted by a large majority, its approval of the electric and gas meter surcharge proposed as an unemployment relief measure in Escanaba.

The vote, giving the club's unqualified endorsement of the plan, followed an explanation of the proposal and its details by John P. Norton, and a round table discussion during which City Manager T. K. Kessler was called in to answer questions presented by the club members on technical phases of the propect.

The club's action as a whole follows the approval given the project following announcement of it by the Civic Committee of the club of which Mrs. J. J. Cox is chairman. This endorsement, at a committee meeting at which details of the plan were presented, was followed by arrangements for the special meeting of the club held Monday.

The club's endorsement of the project is in line with its policy of cooperation in all matters of general welfare and civic betterment.

Ford River Man Dies Suddenly at Escanaba Sunday

Robert Bruce Irving, 74, resident of Ford River, died suddenly Sunday afternoon at 6 o'clock at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, 317 First Avenue South, where he had been making his home since last fall. Mr. Irving was carrying in fire wood when he suddenly fell over and before medical aid could be summoned he had passed away.

Mr. Irving was born January 1, 1858, in New Brunswick, and came to this country many years ago. He lived on a farm at Ford River until last fall when he came to this city to remain with his daughter during the winter months. He is survived by three sons and two daughters, Melvin Irving, Mrs. Oscar Anderson, Mrs. Fred Weissert, all of Escanaba, Rockford Irving, of Danforth and Charles, of Los Angeles, Cal.

The body was prepared for burial at the Allo Funeral Home and was taken to the home of Mrs. Anderson Monday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at the home Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock with Rev. Carl E. Berger officiating.

Mrs. Frank Nolden, who has been seriously ill following a major operation is now on the road to recovery and will probably return to her home 403 First Avenue South, the latter part of the week.

Eileen Sandborn, 317 South Fifteenth street, submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis.

Rushton Kicked In Pants, Says Lansing Editor

Under the headline "Mr. Rushton Gets a Good, Swift Kick," the Michigan State Digest, Lansing, in its Feb. 4 issue, carries a column of comment on the recent address of Governor Wilber M. Brucker at the Soo. In this talk the Governor endorsed the candidacy of William E. Davidson as state senator from the 30th district, the post now held by Senator H. J. Rushton of Escanaba, and the Digest interprets this as a "kick in the slats" for Mr. Rushton. It also suggests a renewal of the "Brucker-Rushton embroglio" and intimates that Governor Brucker's action will bring plenty of trouble for the Governor.

The article says:

"Mr. Wilber Marion Brucker has assured himself of some opposition in the Upper Peninsula, which may, or may not, according to the lights of those viewing the situation, do him some harm.

"He has stepped out into the open and invited Senator Herbert J. Rushton, the he-man legislator from the great open spaces, to engage in battle. The governor went to Sault Ste. Marie, presumably to make a speech about farm taxes, mortgages, the indomitable spirit of the Grand Old Party and things like that, before a meek mannered audience of average Republicans and Grangers, and there was no occasion for him to go out of the way to make things spectacular. Under these auspices the only reason that can be thought of for Mr. Brucker's outbreak was that he hasn't forgotten his grudge against Rushton and prefers to have the latter against him rather than with him in the coming campaign.

William E. Davidson, a Sault Ste. Marie counsellor, has announced he will seek to wrest the Republican senatorial nomination from Rushton. Mr. Brucker went to the Soo, via airplanes and other hazardous forms of transportation, including his Reo which usually travels at least 80 miles on hour, to tell the Republicans and farmers of that community that he is in hearty accord with Mr. Davidson's ambitions. Or, to put the English on the other side, that he has high hopes that the boys and girls in that senatorial district will peel off the Rushton hide and hang it on the fence to smart in the sun.

Such altruistic thoughts and expressions are something of a rarity with Mr. Brucker. On only two other occasions has he deliberately, and with malice aforethought, gone into the highways and byways to crack in the nose some leading politician who has votes at his command. Once he called John Gillespie, of Detroit, names. Another time he said Howard C. Lawrence, state treasurer and chairman of the Republican state central committee, was a 'sullen opponent' and maybe even worse than that.

"The only conclusion to be drawn from these infrequent sorties of the executive is that he does not wish to weaken his political fences by a general, seathing attack upon all those who have very little use for him and for whom he has very little use, but that there are a few who are poison to his soul and therefore must be pilloried even at the possible expense of loss of political strength.

"Mr. Brucker told the Sault Ste. Marie citizenry—and he was at least wise in picking the home town of his favorite son candidate for the senate—that Mr. Davidson is a gentleman and a scholar. While he did not say so in as many words he left no doubt in the minds of the earnest farmers and Republicans that as far as Wilber Marion Brucker is concerned Herb Rushton can wither and suffer in the depths of whatever kind of a hell it is that defeated politicians are sent to. He undoubtedly would like to see the voters give Mr. Davidson a rousing vote of confidence and at the same time give Mr. Rushton a number of hearty kicks in the slats.

"This attitude on the part of the executive may lead them into trouble, although he evidently thinks that he has picked the stronger of the two candidates, politically, and therefore has done his cause some good. However, there is this much about Senator Rushton. When he has anything to say he does so in a large and emphatic way. It is not unreasonable to predict that sooner or later he will have something to say about Mr. Brucker, in view of what Mr. Brucker already has said about him.

"Those who remember the closing days of the last legislature will readily recall that it was Senator Rushton who furnished practically all of the news. It was the two fisted senator from the Upper Peninsula who declared in unminced words that he was sick and tired of administration lobbying for certain bills. It likewise was Senator Rushton who pictured Assistant Attorneys General Kit F. Clardy and Charles Rubiner as a couple of hyenas lurking in the coat room to devour senatorial votes.

"Since his remarks Governor Brucker has seen fit to elevate both the hyenas.

"To get back to the subject in hand—Mr. Rushton, when he was shooting wicked lefts and rights at the administration and its satellites, including Messrs. Clardy and Rubiner, somehow became mentioned as a possible candidate for governor. How this rumor started is a matter of more than the customary mystery, but there are those who think it may have come from no other places than the palatial hill-top home of Fred W. Green in Ionia. Green and Rushton are buddies of several years standing.

"Whether Mr. Rushton, now that Mr. Brucker has kicked him below the spine and is attempting to rub his nose in the dust, will endeavor to revive that rumor, is something to be speculated about if you care for speculation. Even if he does not go to the length of running against Brucker himself, however, you may depend upon it that Mr. Rushton is in no mood to be waving the Brucker banner and that he will do his best with his little hatchet to chop down the green bay tree or whatever it is that Mr. Brucker hopes to plant and cherish. It is possible Mr. Brucker is so strong in the Upper Peninsula that he needs no encouragement from the gentleman who entertained him last summer during the famous "junket of inspection of Upper Peninsula institutions,' which junket, incidentally, happened to coincide with the Upper Peninsula American Legion convention. It is also possible that Mr. Davidson is stronger, politically, than Mr. Rushton in the far reaches of the north. It is not for this chronicler to decide questions of that calibre. We prefer to dump the entire argument in your lap and hope you will give it your full and earnest consideration, and please advise whether you think Mr. Brucker pulled a boner on the run and knows it. There is nothing better for the intellect than to sit beside a warm fire late at night after all the magazines and papers have been read and cogitate over the Brucker-Rushton embroglio."

SORE THROAT

There's a world of winter comfort in Bayer Aspirin tablets. If you take them only to break-up colds, you know only half the story. Some tablets crushed in a little water will relieve the sorest throat with one good gargle. That's what the specialists use in cases of sore throat. That's what you ought to use at home—every time you want throat comfort and protection from infection. Remember, every case of tonsilitis began with just a sore throat! Don't neglect any sore throat. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at the first tickling felt. Take a couple of tablets for that headache that comes with a cold—for neuralgia, neuritis, or similar pain. If it's genuine Bayer, it can't hurt the heart.

AT THE DELFT

Sylvia Sidney, whose excellent work in "An American Tragedy" won favorable comment from the critics, now has the leading feminine part in "Ladies of the Big House," which is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Delft theatre for two days.

This picture is Paramount's screen version of the story by Ernest Booth, life-term convict author at Folsom prison. It is a gripping romantic drama of two persons who have run athwart the law and presents a cross-section of the real drama of life within the qarters of a great prison.

"Ladies of the Big House" follows Miss Sidney's stellar appearance in "Street Scene," a United Artists' production for which she was loaned by Paramount.

Miss Sidney gained prominence when Paramount selected her to take the place of Clara Bow in "City Streets," when the red-haired star became ill. She also had the leading roles in "An American Tragedy" and "Confessions of a Co-Ed."

"Ladies of the Big House" furthers Miss Sidney's career as successor to Miss Bow, since "Ladies of the Mob," Booth's first screen story, served as Clara's most dramatic role several years ago.

In "Ladies of the Big House" Miss Sidney has as her leading man, Gene Raymond, who gained screen prominence as Nancy Carroll's leading man in "Personal Maid," following his stage success in "Young Sinners."

The story of "Ladies of the Big House," a heart-stirring romance of love and regeneration, centers on the two leading characters, unjustly caught in the toils of the law.

$6,000,000 of Bonds Offered by Michigan Gov't Units Unsold

Nearly $6,000,000 worth of bonds were unsuccessfully offered for public sale by various Michigan governmental units during the period from July 1, 1931, to January 15, 1932, according to a recent compilation made by a national bond publication. In many cases the issues were readvertised and again no bids were forthcoming. While most of the communities have been forced to postpone improvements and other projects dependent on the sale of these bonds, others have been able to sell them privately.

Behind this unprecedented accumulation of unsold bond issues lies the specter of delinquent taxes. Wholesale delinquencies have resulted in inability on the part of cities, counties, school districts and townships to meet principal and interst payments on their securities. As a consequence their credit is impaired. This condition of "frozen municipal credit" is reflected in frequent announcements by governmental offices that when the date for the opening of bids on various issues arrived, there were "no bids forthcoming."

The actual list of unsold Michigan bonds totals $5,984,752 for the six and one-half month period, and includes securities of many different government units and proposals for various kinds of improvements. Many of the issues were meant to be refunding measures, which would have allowed communities to reduce their burdens by cutting the rate of interest. But in view of the fact that the initial bonds often had been defaulted, bankers and investment houses looked askance at new issues.

The largest single issue was an Oakland county refunding bond issue, which was rejected twice at public sale and then disposed of privately. Bond issues totaling $690,000 were offered by the city of Flint and found no bidders. Later, $118,000 worth were sold to a contractor engaged in city construction work, and the remaining $562,000 worth could not be disposed. The city's water division subsequently purchased $174,000 for its sinking fund.

Macomb county last July offered $712,000 worth of bonds for sale but found no bidders. The state government recently came to Macomb's aid and offered to take more than $300,000 worth of its bonds, which could not be sold to other agencies.

The city of Hamtramck in September offered a $225,000 issue of grade separation bonds for public sale. No bids were received, and it was reoffered in December with similar success. Kent county offered $246,000 in road assessment bonds for sale in January, but the issue was not sold. A $182,750 refunding issue by the city of Melvindale met a similar fate.

Dickinson county recently offered a $240,000 issue of sewer creek drainage district bonds, but there were no bids. A $300,000 Allegan bond issue, offered last July, was not sold. The city of Pontiac offered $174,700 in refunding bonds for sale in October. There were no bids, nor were there any when it was reoffered in December. The bonds may be sold privately.

Other governmental units which have made unsuccessful offers of bonds since last July are: Athens, Baraga township, Berkeley City, Centerline, Dearborn, East Grand Rapids, Ecorse, Ferndale, Garfield township, Gratiot county, Grosse Ile township, Holland, Ingham county, Ionia county, Kalamazoo township, Laketon township, Lake township, L'Anse, Lincoln Park, Lochmoor, Monroe, Muskegon, Muskegon Heights, Oak Park, Roseville, Royal Oak, Royal Oak township, St. Joseph, Summerfield township, Tecumseh township, Warren township and Wyandotte.

Bay City offered an emergency relief bond issue for $119,000 which was rejected at public sale, and later disposed of privately. Grand Rapids offered a $111,000 social relief, issue but found no bidders. Later it was offered at a higher interest rate and sold. New Buffalo's $25,000 issue, rejected at public sale, was sold privately. The same thing occurred in the case of a $90,000 Owosso issue.

It is presumed that many of the above mentioned issues, which found no bidders at public sales, have been sold privately to wealthy individuals, corporations and financial institutions. Likewise, it is understood that many of the communities are making arrangements for private sales to secure funds to meet necessary expenses and finance necessary improvements.

STOP Adding Fat

Medical science finds that when a certain gland is weak, too much energy food turns to fat. So doctors the world over now combat that cause. They seek to stop the fat formation, then help Nature take the excess fat away. Starvation is not required.

That is the method employed in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 24 years—millions of boxes of them. Now in every circle slender figures show what Marmola does.

Follow this proved method, this right method to reduce. Do what your friends are doing, or have done. Ask your druggist for Marmola. A book in each box tells you how and why it acts. Follow the easy directions until weight comes down to normal. Why not start today?

Car Takes Ditch, No One Injured

Turning completely over in the ditch without injury to any of the occupants of the car or slightest damage to the car was the experience of Frank J. Karas, Escanaba band master, and R. P. Bowers, director of music, Escanaba high school, Sunday.

Mr. Karas, his son, Frank, jr., and Mrs. Bowers, were on their way to Marquette to attend the concert given by the chorus and orchestra of the Northern State Teachers college at Marquette, the accident occurring near Brampton. They were able to right the car with the assistance of passers-by and continued on their trip.

Miss Elsie Karas, a student at the college, is a member of the chorus appearing in the concert.

Club Cooperates In Search for Oldest Mother

Cooperation of the Escanaba Woman's club in the nation-wide search for the oldest native born mother in the United States who will be the guest of the nation on Mother's Day, May 8, at Washington, D. C., representing motherhood as a tribute to Mary Ball Washington, mother of George Washington, was announced Monday.

The General Federation of Women's clubs, cooperation with the District of Columbia George Washington Bicentennial commission is sponsoring the search for the mother who is to be honored. The campaign was introduced in Michigan by Mrs. W. E. Chapman, state vice president, and has been launched in the upper peninsula by Mrs. Sam C. Taylor, Sault Ste. Marie, president of the upper peninsula federation. Twenty-five clubs will conduct the search in northern Michigan.

The mother who will be accorded this honor, must have been born in this country and must be of health sufficiently sound to stand the strain of the trip to and the visit in Washington. Expenses of the trip are to be paid and she will be under the care of the American medical profession during her stay.

Information which must be secured in regard to applicants are: Place of birth, name of father, mother's maiden name and place and date of their births; length of present residence; name of husband, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren and if possible their residence; name of ancestors on either side and any unusual incidents in history; specific service rendered the nation by applicant or ancestors. A photograph must accompany the information.

Applications from this district may be filed with Mrs. W. P. Schuldes, president of the Escanaba Woman's club before February 17, and they will be forwarded by her to Mrs. Taylor. The survey closes March 1.

New York Stage Has Censorship Problem Solved

BY MARK BARRON

New York, Jan. (AP)—Only mildly prodded by police warnings, Broadway has solved its own censorship problems. The street that was called a "scarlet pathway to Babylon" five years ago, is now suffused with purity, sweetness and light. The reformers have relaxed their sentinel duty upon the theatre.

It was in 1926 that a reproving committee of bluecoats swarmed upon a revue called "Bunk of 1926," carting away a bevy of nude chorines to the calaboose and thereby beginning a censorship movement that threatened to close half the playhouses in New York.

The police definitely closed "The Captive," "Maya," "Sex," "Pleasure Man," and warned another called "Red Blinds" not to come into town. "Strange Interlude" was subjected to scrutiny, but was passed. Producers of the "Vanities" and other musical revues were warned to cover their dancers with a trifle more than the customary string of beads.

That was a wicked era in the theare, flaunting a mad parade of nude dancers, suggestive themes and outspokenness in dialogue.

Today, Broadway, shining with a washed face and a clean bib, doesn't present a single show that approaches those of five years ago, in off-color material.

Two seasons ago the hit of the season was a Biblical play, "The Green Pastures," and last season the outstanding play was a respectful drama of literature's sweetest romance, "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

The two most successful musical shows now on Broadway, "The Laugh Parade," and "The Cat and the Fiddle," do not offer a single embarassing moment.

The manner in which the theatre now handles its censorship is illustrated by a musical revue which opened earlier in the season. On the opening night Police Commissioner Mulrooney attended.

The following day one of Mulrooney's assistants called upon the producer and suggested that certain changes be made to eliminate off-color sketches. This was done. There was no publicity about the matter, and now the show is as proper as any in New York.

Mystery Play

Not since "The Spider" has there been as amusing a mystery comedy as "Whistling in the Dark," which brought Ernest Truex, of Red Hill, Mo., back to the farce stage this week.

It is not only excellent farce, but also a terrifying crime mystery which held first night audience clutching at their seats until the final curtain.

The authors, Lawrence Gross, of Milwaukee, and Edward Childs Carpenter, of Connecticut, have taken a suburban hangout of gangsters as their scene. Into this mob there comes, by accident, a novelist who writes crime mysterys and he is inclined to boast about his knowledge of perfect murders.

The gangsters compel him to invent a perfect plan for them to kill a very prominent man, and the penalty for failure of that plan is that he and his sweetheart must die. The novelist invents two ingenious plans to escape this fate.

Pauline Lord chose for her return to the stage a play which was received with divided feeling. It is an interesting, although plodding, drama of the California gold rush, called "Distant Drums."

Queenie Smith appears in "The Little Racketeer," another of those musical shows which boasts a $3 top admission price. Pauline Frederick will return in another fortnight or so in a comedy, "When the Bough Breaks," from the pen of Jerome Sackheim.

Relief Corps Presents Fine Program Here

Patriotism was exemplified in the beauty of song, instrumental music, dramatic art and speech, in the Bicentennial program presented last evening at the Michigan theatre under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Relief Corps, C. F. Smith Division, No. 224.

The program, opening with selections from "William Tell," by the Escanaba high school orchestra, R. P. Bowers directing. Next was the Salute to the Flag and the singing of "America" by the assembly, following which Mayor W. H. Needham delivered an address. Selections by Mrs. John A. Semer and by Miss Ruth Sundquist, were beautifully sung. Miss Lucille Gessner, whose talent in dramatic art is widely known, made "The Perfect Tribute," Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews, that intensely human story of Lincoln, a living word picture of that incident of his life. The address of the evening by Principal John A. Lemmer followed, the orchestra closing the program.

Mr. Lemmer, in his address on George Washington, used the familiar story of that great American patriot as the basis of an eloquent plea for a rebirth of patriotism in America.

Washington was pictured by the speaker as a man who sacrficed everything for American ideals. "Without Washington," said Mr. Lemmer, "the American Revolution would have been crushed within a year; the Constitutional Convention would have been a miserable failure and the Constitution would not have been adopted; and the infant American republic would have collapsed in ruins.

A review, replete with interest, of the life of the Father of our Country followed, and in closing Mr. Lemmer said: "We can be patriotic, not only by doing big things in days of war, but by doing little things in days of peace. It is those little bits of patriotism that can mean so much, whether it is to counteract the waves of bigotry such as we experienced recently or to check the beginnings of communism such as we are experiencing now. And nowhere can we find greater inspiration toward patriotic thoughts and ideals than in the story of George Washington."

KEFGEN GIVES FINE ADDRESS

Fifty Hear Commander Speak at Banquet at Ossa Saturday

Stressing community welfare work and the combatt'ng unemployment as the main objectives of the American Legion posts in Michigan this year, Department Commander Leslie P. Kefgen outlined the accomplishments and plans of the Legion Saturday noon at a banquet given by the Manistique Post at the Ossa hotel for the delegation of department, association, and auxiliary officials touring the upper peninsula. Approximately 50 persons attended.

"At eight o'clock on the evening of Monday, February 15, 11,000 posts, including a million men, will go to bat on the unemployment problem in an effort to get employers of labor to increase their personnel ten per cent," Commander Kefgen declared. "Many companies are now paying dividends out of surpluses. What the Legion desires is to have these firms increase the'r number of employes, paying their wages out of the surplus ordinarily used to pay dividends and thereby alleviating to some extent the large amount of unemployment.

"The Rochester Post solved the unemployment problem in that city to a great extent by using what is now known as the 'Rochester Plan,'" He declared. "Th's plan consisted of personal solicitations of householders in which they were asked what improvements or additions they would like to have done on their buildings. The campaign lasted only one week and resulted in six million dollars worth of business.

"Another plan which raised thousands of dollars was used in Memphis where cards guaranteeing services were issued by the Legion for $1.00 each. The unemployed were sent out to the various jobs not knowing whether they would be required to work for 15 minutes or an entire day. It was a gamble and they took chances. At the conclusion of their work on each job they were paid $1.00 at the Legion headquarters.

"Michigan posts are seeking to alleviate unemployment conditions. They are not pessimist'c, but realize that they must face the issues," stated the commander.

J. J. Herbert, past department commander and welfare officer of the local post, welcomed the delegation and introduced each member to the assemblage. After the meeting the Legion officials left for Galdstone where they were banquetted Saturday evening.

Legion officials who were present at the meeting were: State Commander Leslie P. Kefgen, Bay City; State Auxiliary President, Mary Ripley, Sault Ste. Marie; Upper Peninsula Commander, James A. Byrne, Sault Ste. Marie; State Adjutant, Robert J. Byers, Detroit; State Finance chairman, Dr. Charles Gray, Petoskey; Upper Pen'nsula Adjutant, Guy M. Cox; Chief Contact Officer, John J. Duffy of the Veterans' Bureau, Detroit; Gertrude Grandchamp, member of the Billet Board, Rapid River, and Judge Carl Smith, Bay City.

Miss Hazel Wickwire, accompanied by her sister, Ruby, arrived in New Orleans Saturday evening according to word received here. Miss Wickwire's health is considerably improved.

Two City Pioneers Observe Birthdays

The birthdays of two of Manistique's most revered pioneers were quietly celebrated recently. George Nicholson, Jr., founder of the old White Marble Lime company, celebrated his 80th birthday yesterday at 5220 Upton avenue, South Minneapolis, where he is spending the winter. Austin Fydell's 85th birthday occurred last Friday with many of his friends calling on him during the day.

Mr. Nicholson was a leader in the limestone business in the upper peninsula for many years and despite his advanced age he is very active and is enjoying good health. He has been a resident of Manistique for the past 44 years.

Mr. Fydell has been a resident of this city for the past 51 years, coming here on September 15, 1880. His early days here were spent as a cabinet maker for the Chicago Lumbering company, a job which he combined with the business of undertaker, as there were no recognized undertakers here in those days. He was very adept at making coffins. Later on he operated a hardware and paint store and kept such a complete line of general merchandise that he was able to satisfy almost every want. During his early days as a carpenter he helped to build the Park hotel and the old American House. Mr. Fydell served as city treasurer for four terms and is also a Master Mason.

Mrs. Fydell at close to 80 is still enjoying good health. On October 21 of this year, the happy aged couple will observe their sixty-third wedding anniversary.

Editor Talks on Chinese Situation

Joseph A. Sturgeon, editor of the Delta Reporter, stated that the very existence of civilization, as we know it, is threatened with destruction by the turmoil in the Orient, in a discussion of the Chinese-Japanese situation before the Rotary club, Monday.

The Chinese were pictured as a peace-loving people by the speaker, who traced the history of that country from the time of Cunfucious, whose teachings of brotherly love 2400 years ago implanted into the Chinese the spirit of pacifism, which is making them an easy prey for the militant Japanese.

While the Chinese are not military and perhaps are not so able to fight efficiently for their country, he pointed out, it is not to be said that they are not ready to fight and willing to die in their country's cause.

The principle cause of the present trouble, he said, is the ambition of Japan to acquire the rich agricultural area that comprises Manchuria.

Birthday Talk.

Preceding the talk on China, G. E. Dehlin, druggist, presented a graphic description of his life as a birthday talk feature of the meeting. Mr. Dehlin was born in Sweden, he told the club, coming to America with his parents at the age of four. He was one of five children which were brought to this country by their mother to join the father who had preceded them two years earlier.

Coming directly to Manistique from Europe, Mr. Dehlin spent a greater part of his life in the upper peninsula. He spent some time in Minneapolis during his youth and for a year was employed in South Dakota.

He came to Gladstone in 1919 to make his permanent home, although prior to that time he had worked in a drug store here at intervals.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Norton returned home Saturday evening from Chicago, where they had spent the week in attendance at the auto show.

Legion Officials Report Activities At County Banquet

The membership of the American Legion in the state of Michigan is 5,000 above a year ago and this membership is carrying on a program of community service greater than ever in its history, according to the reports made by visiting state officials at the Delta county banquet at the Gladstone Legion hall Saturday night.

Care of the disabled veterans of the World war, welfare work among the children of former soldiers throughout the state, unemployment relief and general community service activities were pointed to as some of the undertakings of Legion Posts. Boy Scout work, junior baseball, and Americanism programs sponsored by the Legion were doing much to build up citizenship among the boys of the state, it was stated by Legion officials, who quoted statistics to show that in the nation the Legion would have under its supervision nearly half a million boys who will participate in the junior baseball activities this year.

More than 175 Legionnaires and their guests were present to hear the Legion officials present an outline of the activities of the organizat'on and to recite its history. The speakers for the Legion included Commander Leslie P. Kefgen, Bay City; Judge Carl H. Smith, Bay City; Adjutant R. J. Byers, Detroit; U. P. Commander Byrne, Sault Ste. Marie; John J. Duffy, U. S. Veterans Bureau; U. P. Adjutant, Guy Cox and Commander Albart Madden of the local post. For the Auxiliary, Mrs. Mary A. Ripley, State President, presented a review of the work being done by that organization and pointed out the service that has been rendered to the disabled.

Guests of the Legion included all members of the Gladstone City Commission, Mayor Bushong, City Manager Buechner, Supt. A. R. Watson, Prin. C. C. Strickland and a large group of other leaders in city affairs.

Musical numbers included several selections by the High School orchestra, song numbers by the Rotary quartet and a violin solo by Winifred Jackson. As an encore, Miss Jackson gave a whistling solo which, in the stage vernacular, stopped the show.

Following the banquet program a large number of the Legionnaires and others who attended the banquet went to Rapid River to attend the Legion dance.

TRAINS DOG FOR DERBY; IS HURT

Robert Nebel Struck by Car Saturday; Driver Blameless

Robert Nebel, 15, may not be able to enter the Legion Dog derby on Feb. 20, and all because he was so anxious to get his dog in shape for the races that he was training after dark on Saturday night. Robert and another lad were working out their dogs on Michigan avenue and as they raced side by side down the street were so absorbed that they did not see a car approaching from the west. Robert was slightly to the rear of the other dog team and to the right of the street. The driver of the car saw the one dog coming straight for him and swerved across the street to avoid an accident, only to collide head-on with Robert's dog.

Earl Cole, Gladstone, driver of the car, stopped and picked the injured lad up and carried him to the office of Dr. D. N. Kee, where an examination disclosed severe bruises but no broken bones. When his wounds had been dressed he was taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nebel, 417 Michigan avenue, to be cared for. He will not be able to be out for more than a week.

The dog was cut about the head and also badly bruised. It is unlikely that he will be able to enter the races.

Officers who made an investigation declare that the driver was not to blame and that the accident was unavoidable.

Pertinent Comment

Probate Judge Carl H. Smith of Bay City, who was at Gladstone Saturday night to attend the Legion banquet, criticized the "buck-passing" between cities, counties, states and the federal government in the matter of the relief of distress among the poor. "What difference does it make," he said, "what you call the aid given, whether it is a pension, a dole or something else, or whether it is distributed by the state, the federal government or by the city or county? No matter what the method used to give aid or the agency through which it is distributed, it must come from the pockets of the taxpayer."

The expression of Judge Smith was provoked by a discussion of the appeal for aid for disabled veterans. It was pointed out that in many cases former soldiers who were unable to earn even a small part of their livlihood were given a limited disability rating by the government. Their families, as a result, were forced to rely upon local agencies for assistance.

Judge Smith contends that disability pay should be based on the needs of the veteran rather than upon his disability. A man who is able to earn sufficient for his own needs should not be given compensation, the Judge believes, in proportion with the man who is unable to provide, even though the disability of the former is far greater.

Judge Smith, who lost an arm in the war and was otherwise wounded, is one of those who would probably receive less in disability pay were such a plan adopted, but he is unselfish enough to be willing to sacrifice a part of his income in order that his fellows might be relieved of the need of appealing to charitable organizations to provide for their families.

Start Construction Of Trunk Line Sewer

Actual construction work was started yesterday morning on the Eleventh street and Montana avenue trunk line sewer, Gladstone's major unemployment relief project of the winter. Only four men from the unemployment lists were put to work yesterday two of whom started trenching and the others being engaged in unloading pipe.

Today, it is expected, 8 additional men will be given jobs and further increases will be made until 30 men are employed. Each week the men will be alternated in an effort to give all men on the preferred lists a chance to earn a few dollars.

The list from which the men are chosen includes a total of 107 men, 64 of whom are in the first classification and will be given first consideration when workers are to be selected. All men to be given work during the first week of construction have already been assigned.

The hours of work were announced yesterday. At the hour of 7:30 the men will go to work. They will stop for lunch at 11:30 and return to work at 12:30, quitting for the day at 4:30. They will be paid on the basis of 40 cents per hour.

It is expected that the job will be completed in 30 working days.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Plainly lacking incentive to do otherwise, stocks nosed downward again today.

Selling tended to be selective and the market was again dull, but net changes averaged into a loss of nearly a point which put the Associated Press-Standard Statistics Co. composite within half a point of the January low.

Groups most affected by the dominant drift were the rails, tobaccos, motors, farm implements and coppers. Utilities, with the exception of People's Gas, and also the steel division acquitted themselves reasonably well. The turnover was 1,148,524 shares.

Rail Issues Sag

The market was firm during the first hour when shorts covered on the theory that the long but slow decline might well be approaching a turning point. However, vulnerable spots soon made their appearance. General Electric was prominently soft; so was General Motors after its January sales figures had been published, showing a volume under December. Case and International Harvester issues made new lows, being joined by Chrysler, American Smelting and Du Pont, among others. Several rails, including Santa Fe, Jersey Central and Chesapeake & Ohio, went through their previous minimums, while New York Central duplicated its low. Union Pacific, whose directors meet for dividend action this week, halved a 3 point decline with a late recovery.

United States Steel closed with a major fractional gain, its firmness apparently reflecting repurchases by shorts who found the stock expensive to borrow. Estimates of cigarette production last month mentioned a decrease and leading tobacco shares lost a point or two.

The General Motors sales report indicated that the automobile industry had not enjoyed the pickup which usually manifests itself after the first of the year and that however fashionable the reception given new models at the winter shows consumer demand was still light.

Auto Sales Better At Chicago Show

Chicago, Feb. 6 (AP)—Six cars were sold at the annual automobile show which closed tonight for every five purchased at the 1931 show.

Although sales were up 20 percent to about 1,900 cars, attendance figures showed a slight decline, officials said. The 165,000 visitors approached the 180,000 attendance total for the previous New York show. Officials blamed two near zero spells and a snowstorm for the difference.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Feb. 8—Estimates from Washington that United States bins were overflowing with 75,000,000 bushels more wheat than last year pulled grain values downward today.

Inasmuch as there were 25,000,000 bushels of United States wheat in Canada, it was generally assumed that this country has now an excess of 100,000,000 bushels as compared with a year ago. Stock market declines exerted a further bearish influence, together with almost complete absence of damage reports from domestic winter wheat territory.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¼ to 5-8 under Saturday's finish, corn ½ to 7-8 down, oats 1-8 to 3-4 off, and provisions showing 5 to 10 cents drop.

Corn and oats reflected the downgrade of wheat. Shipping demand here for corn was again relatively slack.

Provisions went lower responsive to hog values at a new bottom record for the season.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May, 57¼ to 3-8, 58½ to 5-8; July, 57 7-8, 58 7-8 to 59; Sept., 59 3-8, 60 3-8. Corn—May, 38 1-8, 37 3-4 to 7-8; July, 40 3-8, 40 7-8 to 41; Sept., 41 3-8, bids.

Heavy Selling On Curb Cuts Prices

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Scattered selling imparted a heavy tone to the Curb market today, although most losses were narrow, and the list offered fair resistance here and there. The volume was small, approximately 200,000 shares.

Selling again converged upon the utilities. Electric Bond and Share was sold in some volume, but closed at 10, off only ¼. Some of the Insull issues penetrated new low ground, but Middle West recovered from a low of 3¾ to close at 4. A number of utility issues, however, held about steady.

The new American Commercial Alcohol shares were admitted to trading, and ranged from 14½ to 14¾.

Newmont Mining lost a point in sympathy with heaviness of coppers on the big board.

U. P. Briefs

U. P. PIONEER DIES.

Ironwood—William Nast, 78, died suddenly at 6 o'clock last evening of a heart attack at his home at 342 South Marquette street.

He had spent the day as usual working in his office at the Cahodas - Paoli - Nast wholesale fruit house on East Ayer street and apparently was in the best of health when he walked to his home. Shortly after entering the house, he collapsed and died.

GET DUCKING.

Iron Mountain—Hector and George Goulette, of the Goulette Brothers Ice company, and Earl Hereau, an employe, may justly qualify for membership in the Polar Bear club as a result of their experience at 9 o'clock this morning when, while riding over the surface of Lake Antoine on a loaded truck, the ice gave way and the three men dropped into nine feet of ice water.

Hereau was at the wheel of the truck, and the Goulette brothers were riding with him in the cab. They were carrying a full load of ice to the company's ice house on the shore of the lake.

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Bond market was generally heavy today, although the larger losses were established in very thin trading. Activity diminished even in comparison with recent low levels and sales totaled only $8,244,000, par value.

Railroad loans were generally in disfavor. Losses of two, three or four points in that group proved to be fairly numerous, but in many instances the declines were made on only nominal volume. Utilities and industrials also tended to sag. Foreign issues however, held fairly steady and U. S. governments made considerable improvement.

The decline of carrier obligations is being attributed by some dealers to the continued shrinkage in car loadings which forecasts, of course, lower operating revenues.

speak to the young man, saw the two turn toward her. Salomon introduced her and waited for the newcomer to supply his own name. Ellen, with her new and sharpened perceptions, felt that the young man hesitated as he said that he was Larry Smith. She could not be certain. She was certain that his eyes were gray, not blue.

* * *

The orchestra swung into a waltz. Most of the couples were flocking from the floor. Ellen saw them, heard them, even identified some of the girls, but all this served only as a dim and unreal background for the man who stood before her.

He asked her to dance. With that same strange feeling that all of this had been preordained, that all this was something that she would never forget, she stepped into his arms.

"Am I going crazy?" she thought. "A young man I've never seen before waltzes with me and I want to cry."

She fancied that she was trembling. She was sure that if she tried to speak she would find that she had lost her voice. The two tall beautiful young people were almost alone on the floor. They had not spoken since they started dancing. As effortless as shadows they drifted along to the measures of the light melancholy tune.

"I haven't any tickets," the young man spoke at last and abruptly. Absurdly he repeated, "I haven't any tickets."

He guided her to the ticket booth. Even as they reached the knot of perspiring men who were supplying themselves with fresh tickets the dance was done. Ellen withdrew a few paces, embarrassed, shy, confused.

She was obsessed with a desire to learn the name of the waltz the orchestra had played. As she waited for her partner nothing seemed to matter in the world save that she should know the name of that waltz. Never thinking what she was doing she thumped the violin player between the shoulder blades. He was tuning his instrument but he stopped to ask indignantly what she thought she was doing.

"What waltz were you playing? What waltz were you playing?"

"'Waltz Romantic.' Next time look out who you punch."

Ellen laughed joyously and with a disgusted glance at her, he began to pick at his strings again. A moment later the lights went out—all except a round moon over the orchestra.

As the room filled with misty, bluish light and the piano began to tinkle, the dancers crowded to the floor. Ellen was wildly impatient to be dancing. What if Larry Smith were unable to find her? What if he had noticed that she had withdrawn? She turned to see him coming toward her through the bluish dusk. As he drew near she thought that she had never been so happy in her life.

Rangers Beat Big Joes; Packers Here Wednesday

STAMBO QUINT DOWNED, 35-24

Escanabans Go to Crystal Falls for Game Tonight

Displaying perfect coordination, the Escanaba Rangers basketball team continued their quest for the upper peninsula title here Sunday by vanquishing the Stambaugh Big Joes, 35 to 24, at the Coliseum gymnasium. The victory evened the score with the Stambaugh team as the Big Joes had defeated the Rangers earlier in the season.

The Rangers employed a tight man to man defense against the Stambaugh athletes with exceptional success in the first half. The Escanaba cagers were "on" right from the start and they galloped up a 12 to 7 advantage at half time. They were content during the remainder of the game to maintain this advantage.

F. Johannssen, Draftz and Ray Warner carried the offensive brunt for the Rangers, Johannssen taking high scoring honors with 11 points. F. Stanich led the Stambaugh attack with nine points.

Tonight the Rangers will travel to Crystal Falls where they will meet for the first time this season the powerful Ramblers led by Eddie Chambers. This is the first of a two game series scheduled between the Rangers and Ramblers this season, the return game to be played here on February 21.

Local Trapgunners Plan Shoot In July

Decision to hold a non-registered tournament for upper peninsula trap-shooters during the coming summer, was made at a meeting of Escanaba gunners held Sunday afternoon at the C. & N. W. trap club house.

The shoot will be conducted similarly to last year's successful meet which attracted some 75 gunners, and will be open to pigeon busters from all parts of the peninsula and northern Wisconsin. It is probable that the shoot will be made a two-day meet and the dates have been tentatively set as Saturday and Sunday, July 16-17.

Purdue Basketeers Nip Buckeye Quint

Columbus, O., Feb. 8 (AP)—Purdue's basketball team nosed out Ohio State, 38 to 33, in a fast hard-fought western conference game here tonight.

Purdue had a 25-17 lead at halftime, but Ohio State quickly overcame the disadvantage. The score was tied three times, 27-27, 31-31 and finally 33-33 at the end of the regulation second period.

From then on, however, the Buckeyes were unable to score and Purdue rolled up the winning margin.

"Sez Me"

by Ken Gunderman

The Eskymos took it on the chin Friday but they need not apologize for their performance. Being defeated by the Soo quintet does not call for the crepe of mourning. The Cranemen are good in more ways than one and last week they were especially good.

—o—

We're not putting forth any "I told you so's." Nevertheless, the Escanaba defeat was not entirely unexpected by basketball fans who closely follow the sport in the upper peninsula. Although the Soo would be a menace to any prep team in the upper peninsula, they lost two matches by narrow margins on successive nights the week before playing the Eskymos.

—o—

The Lock City's burst of accurate basket tossing Friday night when they whipped the Eskymos and again on Saturday night when they walloped the Graveraets of Marquette was past due. It was bound to come sooner or later and it was just unfortunate to the Eskymos and to Marquette and their followers that the Blue Devils happened to pick those two nights to be "on."

—o—

In Jacobs and McPike, Coach Crane has two of the nicest basketball men in the peninsula prep ranks. Both are veterans of several years experience. They are speedy dribblers, nice passers and above all, possess an uncanny ability to score field goals.

—o—

Although the Escanaba defeat cost the Eskymos some points in the percentage column, they neither gained nor lost anything in their race with Iron Mountain for the championship of the Class B conference. A victory over Iron Mountain will still give the Eskymos the championship, providing they win from Menominee, also.

—o—

A victory over the Soo would have placed the Eskymos in first place in the conference standings but it would not have established them in a position from which they could not be tumbled. Had the Eskymos defeated the Soo and then lost to Iron Mountain, they would be shifted to second place in the standings, anyway.

—o—

Barring upsets, Escanaba and Iron Mountain will meet here on Feb. 23 to settle the conference championship. Each team has Menominee yet to contend with in the conference before Feb. 23 but both Iron Mountain and Escanaba have defeated the Maroons once this season and should win from them again.

—o—

If the Eskymos win their their last two conference games—with Menominee and Iron Mountain—their record in conference competition would be six victories and two defeats while Iron Mountain, granting them a victory over Menominee, would have five victories and two defeats, leaving the Eskymos with possession of the title by a half game.

Minnesota Defeats Iowa Cagers, 24-22

Minneapolis, Feb. 8 (AP)—A field goal by Robinson in the final minute gave Minnesota a 24 to 22 victory over Iowa in a Western Conference basketball game here tonight.

Tied at the half, 11 to 11, after a six point lead was wiped out by a desperate Hawkeye attack, the Gophers again ran away to a six point margin in the second half, which Iowa deadlocked with a minute to play.

Taking a loose ball just inside the Hawkeye foul line, Robinson, a leader in Minnesota's offensive, tossed in the game-winning shot.

Escanaba Parochials to Meet Lady of Lourdes Quintet Tonight

The St. Joseph basketball team will travel to Marinette to meet the Lady of Lourdes quintet in a return battle at the Badger city court. Coach Brunelle will take 11 men on the trip.

In the first game played between the teams the Marinette crew, now second place in the Wisconsin Fox River Valley Catholic league, won from the Escanaba Parochials but Brunelle believes his cagers can even the score today.

Sharkey has been a welcome addition to the Parochial team and proved a much needed spark in the Parochial attack against Gladstone.

The men who will make the trip with Coach Brunelle are: Clements and Beaumier, centers; McGovern, Bodette, Harvey and Walker, forwards; Sharkey, Brazeau, Boddy, Clairmont, and Roy guards.

CHICAGO PLAYER BILLIARD CHAMP

Kieckhefer Defeats Reiselt to Win Three-Cushion Meet

Chicago, Feb. 8 (AP)—Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, who laughs off his physical handicap of a sightless eye, scaled the scientific billiard heights tonight by winning the world's three-cushion crown for the tenth time.

He won the title and the bag of gold with it by routing Otto Reiselt, Philadelphia's Flying Dutchman, 50 to 27 in 40 innings. His feat tied him with Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., a man he helped escort out of the current tournament, in title holdings as Layton, too, has won it ten times.

The championship carried with it a salary of $6,000 annually, $1,200 in cash, 16 per cent of the net gate receipts valued at approximately $1,000 and a crown worth about $10,000 more over the year from the receipts of exhibitions alone.

Irving Jaffee First in 10,000 Metre Race; U. S. Scores Sweep

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Irving Jaffee, slim young broker's clerk on a vacation from Wall street, stood today on a homely pine board throne in the middle of the Olympic ice oval to receive the fourth, and the greatest of all the honors the United States has won in the brief history of the winter Olympic games.

Irving Jaffee

A snow storm swirled about his head, a band blared the "Star Spangled Banner," a freezing crowd yelled wildly from pine bare stands—in tribute to the slender Jewish boy from the sidewalks of New York who won his second individual speed skating triumph in the 10,000 meters final today and gave the United States a clean sweep of all four speed skating Olympic championships. It is the first time in history that this nation, or any other nation, has ever won them all.

As they placed on his head the laurel wreath, symbol of an international champion, a tall black-haired boy who had just helped Jaffee up after he fell exhausted beyond the finish line of the last of the men's speed races on the 1932 Olympic program, led the cheering of the conqueror's team mates from the sidelines.

I. Ballangrud

That was Jack Shea, curly headed Dartmouth sophomore, who started the amazing string of American triumphs with victory in the 500 meters championship last Thursday, opening day of the games, and followed with a 1,500 meter triumph while Jaffee was winning his initial victory of an international field in the 5,000 metres final.

Second to Jaffee today was Ivar Ballangrud, Norwegian champion, one of the Scandinavians born to snow and ice and considered invincible until they clashed in these games with Shea, product of the local ice, and Jaffee, who learned his skating on a rink two flights up.

Gruelling Finish

Ballangrud lost by three yards in a gruelling finish after Jaffee had slipped past him on the last lap of the 6.2 mile grind to grab a four-yard lead and hold all but a yard of it in a thrilling drive through a biting snowstorm down the stretch.

Right at Ballangrud's heels, flailing the spongy ice with his long blades, came Frank Stack, Canadian champion, while Eddie Wedge, of Detroit, was inches back in fourth place with another veteran campaigner of the United States team, Valentine Bialis, just as close in fifth place. The second Norwegian ace, Bernt Evensen, was sixth.

Alex Hurd of Canada was seventh and Ed Schroeder, of Chicago, who fell on the turn into the stretch, finished last. The time, 19 minutes, 13 6-10 seconds, was slow in comparison with the world mark of Carlsen of Norway, 17:17 4-10, but it was remarkably fast considering the condition of the track, the cold and the snow.

Jaffee's victory all but clinched the unofficial team crown for the United States, another record for the winter Olympics, first held in France in 1924. The point score tonight stood 57 for the United States, 29 for Canada and 14 for Norway, only other nations to score points in the first five days of the games.

The start of bob sled competition was postponed until tomorrow because of today's blizzard.

The only other outdoor event of the day gave Miss Jean Wilson, of Canada, a victory in the final of the first women's speed skating exhibitions between skaters of the United States and Canada. Miss Wilson won the 500 meters final in 58 seconds flat, with two girls of the United States team, Elizabeth Dubois of Evanston, Ill., and Kit Klein of Buffalo, second and third, respectively.

DEMPSEY GIVES TWO BEATINGS

Milwaukee Fans Applaud Former Champ in Exhibition

Milwaukee, Feb. 8, (AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, pummeled two heaveyweight opponents all over the ring in four rounds of exhibition boxing here tonight while some 8,000 fans applauded enthusiastically.

First Dempsey took on Buck Everett, of Gary, Ind., for two rounds. Everett went down three times, being felled in each instance by a short left hook that was typically Dempsey. Each time Everett got up at the count of ten, his nose and mouth bleeding. Dempsey's upper lip was cut in the first round.

Next the Manassa Mauler traded punches with Jack Roper, of Los Angeles, Calif., for two rounds. Roper was on the canvas for an instant in the second round but cleverly evaded Dempsey's lefts during the remainder of the match.

Dempsey used his right ineffectively, but when he punched with his left his opponents felt the sting of the blows. Dempsey weighed 194 1-2; and Roper 193.

CAGE TOURNEY IS UNDER WAY

Chicago and Michigan Win Opening Games in School Meet

The senior high school home room basketball tournament opened last night at the high school with the first two games of the first round in the upper bracket being run off. In the first contest Chicago defeated Minnesota 17-6 and in the second game Michigan won over Northwestern 13-7. The two victors in these contests will meet Thursday in the semi-finals. Tonight at four o'clock Wisconsin will meet Indiana and at five Iowa will face Michigan State. The winners of these games will also meet Thursday in the semi-finals of the lower bracket. Friday night at the junior high the finalists of the tournament will play to decide the championship. The two losers in the semi-finals will play a preliminary game to the major contest. A slight addmission to the games at the junior high will be charged, the money to be used to help defray the expenses of installing the new electric score boards now in use there.

Manistique, Feb. 8 (Special)—The Lauerman Specials, McNamara Oils and Norton Specials, got off to a flying start in the city amateur league race last week with a substantial win over Christensen's Clothiers, the Johnson Grocers and Drevdahl's, respectively. The contest scheduled for Friday evening between Lauerman's Specials and Drevdahls was postponed because of the freshman prom at the high school gym.

Closer contests are expected this week when some of the undefeated teams tangle with each other. Some of the entries have not had as much practice as the other teams and consequently are not in as good condition. This was shown in games last week, most of which were close during the first half, with the well-conditioned teams having things their own way in the final period.

Games this week are as follows:

Monday—Christensen's vs. McNamara Oils.

Tuesday—Johnson Grocers vs. Norton Specials.

Wednesday—Lauerman Specials, McNamara Oils.

Thursday—Christensen Clothiers vs. Norton Specials.

Friday—Johnson Grocers vs. Drevdahl's.

Canada Puck Team Wins from Germany

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 8 (AP)—Canada's Olympic hockey team blanketed Germany tonight, to retain its two point lead over the United States in the point standing of the international series.

The United States, earlier in the evening, had beaten Poland for its third victory in four starts. Canada now has won four straight games, beating Germany twice and the United States and Poland once each.

Germany offered stubborn résistance tonight but the Teutons were outclassed. Their desperate thrusts were sadly lacking in cooperation and general hockey craft.

The Canadians scored twice in the opening period, once in the middle heat and then rammed home two more counters in the third period. Canada's goals were shared by five players, Lindquist, who got one of them, was credited with assists on two others.

Grabowski, Detroit Catcher, Is Sold

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sale of Johnny Grabowski, veteran catcher, to the Montreal club of the International League, was announced today by Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit baseball club.

Grabowski, who was with the New York Yankees for two years and with the Chicago White Sox for three, was purchased by the Tigers from St. Paul of the American Association at the end of the 1930 season.

HOYT RELEASED BY ATHLETICS

Veteran Pitcher Freed by Club After Long, Brilliant Career

Philadelphia, Feb. 8 (AP)—Waite C. Hoyt, veteran pitcher and shining star of many an American League and world series battle, was today unconditionally released by the Philadelphia Athletics.

Waite Hoyt

Connie Mack, manager of the A's, who is golfing in Florida wired Hoyt and notified his office staff at Shibe Park to fill out the necessary papers.

All the other clubs in the league were asked whether they wanted his services but none made a demand for him.

Hoyt joined the Athletics last Fourth of July and sent joy into the hearts of the White Elephant rooters by winning a string of games before tasting his first defeat.

He came from the Detroit club by the waiver route with a record of three victories and eight defeats for the season up to July 3. He won ten games and lost five with the Athletics.

Five World Series

Hoyt was the starting pitcher in the fifth game of the world series between the Athletics and the St. Louis Cardinals last fall and was taken out, the A's losing 5 to 1.

Hoyt was one of the stars of the New York Yankees before being sent to Detroit in 1930. He had little success while with the Tigers. After shifting around in the minors and being with the New York Giant in the latter part of the 1918 season, Hoyt joined the Boston Red Sox in 1919 and was traded to the Yankees in 1921. Then Hoyt began his greatest work.

He was a winner for the Yanks in 1921 until 1930, his best seasons being 1927 and 1928, when he won 22 and 23 games, respectively, losing only seven in each of those seasons.

Hoyt pitched in five world series for the Yankees, being credited with six victories and three defeats. He is 32 years old.

The 1932 tournaments to decide the Nebraska high school basketball championships will see 446 teams competing, 229 in Class B and 147 in Class A.

NOTED PLAYERS TO COME HERE

Hank Bruder Heads List of Green Bay Men on Cage Roster

Escanaba basketball fans will receive a special dish on Wednesday evening when the Green Bay Packers cage team, composed of nationally famous athletes who won the National Professional Football championship for the third successive season last fall, will meet the fast stepping Escanaba Ranger quintet at the Coliseum gymnasium.

The Green Bay athletes played here last year before a packed house and made an indelible impression in winning from the Escanaba squadron in a torrid battle. This year the Packers are strengthened by the addition of "Hard Luck Hank" Bruder, former Northwestern University football and basketball star who later signed up with the Packer professional football team.

Sport fans who have read of Bruder's scintillating deeds on the gridiron or have seen him crash through opposition lines will be pleased to watch him flash this same super power on the basketball court, combining agility of mind and muscle in a like manner against one of the peninsula's outstanding basketball teams.

In addition to Bruder, the Packers boast of such players as Johnny Blood, the vagabond athlete, who proved the high point scorer for the Packers both in football and basketball last season; Engelman, Michalske, considered by many experts as the best football linesman in the professional ranks; Lavvie Dilweg, Red Dunn, Herber, Hickman and others of the famous Green Bay football machine.

Battle of Giants

Although the Packers are best known for their football feats, that they are equally at home on the basketball court was evidenced here last winter when they came from behind to defeat the Rangers in a game that contained everything fans desire in an exceptional basketball dish.

The Ranger quintet has been traveling at a speedy clip this season, running up a string of victories over the best basketball crop the upper peninsula has produced in many seasons. The latest achievement of the Escanaba team was a 35 to 24 victory over the Stambaugh Big Joes, a team that earlier in the season won from the Escanaba crew.

The Escanaba-Packer game will be a battle of giants. The Green Bay quintet is composed of a crew of big, broad and husky athletes, well trained for the most rigorous of sports. The Rangers with such bulwarks of strength as Dauber Draftz, Ray Warner, Folke and Ernie Johannsson, Paul Boyd, Shirley Warner and Johnny Andrews constitute one of the tallest and shiftiest cage squadrons that the peninsula has seen in several years.

The advance ticket sale which provides for reserved seat ducats without extra charge has been exceptionally brisk to date. Only 300 reserved seats will be sold in advance and holders will be entitled to seats inside the railing at the Coliseum. If the entire quota of reserved seats are not sold in advance, the remainder will be sold to the first applicants at the window of the Coliseum gym before the game. Ranger officials, however, believe that there will be no reserved seats available by Wednesday evening.

Boy Scouts Hold City - Wide Rally Here This Evening

A city-wide rally of Boy Scouts of Escanaba will be held at the Junior high school gymnasium at 7:30 o'clock this evening as a feature of the local program in observance of National Boy Scout Week. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Another of the features of the Boy Scout program this week is the special display of Scout uniforms, posters, knots and other articles in the windows of the Delta Hardware Branch, Blomstrom & Petersen, and Anderson & Bloom stores.

Scouting is a program of interesting, useful things for boys to do in their leisure time. These boys learn the mysteries of woodcraft, of first aid, swimming and life saving, of outdoor cooking and camping, of signaling, map making, hiking and citizenship.

Like the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts of America is chartered directly by congress and the president of the United States is its honorary president.

The scoutmasters are picked local men, who give their time without pay because of their interest in the boys of America.

Scouting gives boys a chance to serve their community. Its activities not only give pleasure and knowledge, but they prepare to meet community emergencies. When tornado struck Omaha or southern Illinois—when flood swept on Pueblo—when earthquake and fire hit California—when powder magazines exploded in New Jersey—the scouts proved at once their reidiness to serve.

Scouting is neither military nor anti-military. It carefully avoids political or commercial entanglements.

GLADSTONE NEWS.

'Never Again' Say Bass Lake Party

Five members of the Bass Lake club have taken a solemn oath that the next time that they view the scenery that surrounds their lodge, it will be from the vantage point of a grass-covered knoll and through the brilliant green foliage of springtime.

This oath was taken Sunday night in a solemn ceremony held upon the wind swept plains near Bill's creek, some fifteen miles to the north of Gladstone, and followed hours of weary plodding through almost endless drifts of snow.

The party, comprising Sid Gordon, R. B. Mason, E. J. Noreus, Milton Buchanan, and F. J. Miller, had gone to Bass Lake Saturday night for an outing. The roads were open, which is most unusual at this time of year, and they longed for the comfort of the camp life.

But, while they were there King Winter unloosed a young "blizzard" which made the roads all but impassible. For ten hours they shoveled and pushed in order to fight their way to Gladstone.

THEATRES

RIALTO

Few modern writers have more "best-sellers" to their credit than Mary Roberts Rinehart whose recent fiction sensation, "Lost Ecstasy," comes to the Rialto Theatre screen today, under the title "I Take This Woman."

"I Take This Woman," the screen version of the well-liked story, features Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard in its cast. The drama involves a petted child of wealth, Carole Lombard, whose scare-line escapades have involved her father in trouble and scandal. Shipped off to the family ranch in Wyoming for punishment, she meets, flirts with, and unthinkingly marries Gary Cooper, a range rider. Then the spoiled darling learns something about life, on a barren little ranch. The marriage runs a mad course, but the wilfull bride with the road opened for her escape, finds she has bound herself to her strange husband with ties stronger than any man-made law.

Kipling Hockey Team Wins Two

The Kipling pucksters won two hockey games Sunday afternoon in matches with Gladstone and Escanaba on the Kipling rink. They defeated Gladstone 5 to 1 and Escanaba by 1 to 0.

The victory over Gladstone came after Gladstone had taken the lead in the first period by scoring one goal and holding the Kipling team. In the second period Kipling switched their lineup and started a scoring spree which ended after the puck had been driven into the net four times.

Bovin scored twice, King once and Van De Weghe once in this period.

In the final period Miller scored the fifth goal for Kipling.

The lone score in the Escanaba game was made in the second period when Bovin drove the puck through the entire Escanaba team from three-quarters the length of the rink.

The line-up of the Gladstone-Kipling game was as follows:

Kipling	Pos.	Gladstone
Miller	C	Weingartner
Carlson	RW	Tumath
Lake	LW	Mingay
Harris	RD	Neveau
O. Lund	LD	Maynard
A. Lund	G	Dehlin

Spares: Kipling, Bovin and Van De Weghe.

TENNANT TELLS OF POLAR TRIP

All "A" Students of Both High Schools Are Kiwanis Guests

All "A" students of St. Joseph's and Escanaba high schools were honored guests of the Escanaba-Wells Kiwanis club at the Ludington hotel luncheon meeting yesterday noon, and were privileged to hear a highly interesting account of Commander Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic trip as told by George W. Tennant of St. Ignace. Mr. Tennant was chief cook in the Byrd expedition, it being his responsibility to feed the 42 men of the exploration staff.

Mr. Tennant illustated his talk with stereopticon pictures of various scenes in the Antarctic Circle. Commander Byrd charged him with the duty of gathering enough provisions to last two years, a task that required about three months' time. All metal containers had to be covered with a certain type of paint to prevent the rusting that would otherwise occur on such a trip.

The speaker described the receptions accorded them by the people at Panama, Tahiti Islands, New Zealand and other ports they visited enroute. He told of the difficulties they had in keeping their bodies from freezing in weather that ranged all the way from zero to 73 degrees below in temperature.

How the explorers devised various form of recreation while wintering in their crudely constructed houses, amid snow and ice, was told by Mr. Tennant. Card-playing, ukele music and singing, pranks, story-telling and listening in on the radio were the chief diversions, he said.

In an interesting manner, Mr. Tennant described the whales, seals, penguins and other species of animal life encountered on the trip. His lecture was concluded with the story of Byrd's dramatic, epoch-making flight by airplane over the South Pole.

Edward Moersch and John Murray of Escanaba and St. Joseph high schools, respectively, also spoke briefly, expressing the appreciation of the student groups for the courtesies extended by the club. Jack Loeffler invited the Kiwanians to attend a George Washington birthday anniversary program at St. Joseph school Feb. 22.

The All "A" students of St. Joseph's are: Seniors, Alta Brotherton, Marian Frederickson, Delima Scheer, Kathleen Todd, Vern Beitzer, and Grant Larson; juniors, Fred Annuta, Margaret Beitzer, Mildred Fuller, Marian Hoffmann, Jack Loeffler, John Murray, Laverne McCarthy, Evelyn Stockemer, George Seymour and Robert Sullivan; sophomores, Elsie Beauchamp, Mae Larson, Jeannette Lewis, Ellen Michaud, Betty Murray and Raymond Martineau; freshmen, Helen Jean Beck, Daniel Gearts, Elizabeth Morin, Helen Tobin, Mary Vardigan and Mary Louise Wilson.

Escanaba public school honor students are: Seniors, Irene Lammi, Allen Harwood, Edward Moersch, Esther Stein and Ethel Helen Murphy; Juniors, Margaret Kamrath and George Moersch; sophomores, Leo Alperovitz, Kenneth Thompson, Marion Hansen, Helen Lutz and Delvina Hebert; junior high school, Eva Mae Ramspeck and Allen Beck.

The Kiwanis club voted its endorsement of the plans that are being made to alleviate unemployment in Escanaba, upon recommendation of the special committee appointed last week to study the program.

Rotarians, Wives Enjoy Program At Delta Hotel

Members of the Escanaba Rotary club and their wives participated in a most enjoyable ladies' night program at the Delta hotel last night. Following the serving of a most delicious dinner, arranged under the direction of E. A. Grabowski, a brief program was carried out, with W. J. Clark, club president, officiating as toastmaster. John P. Norton was scheduled to deliver the address of the evening, but instead he introduced Miss Winnifred Jackson, of Gladstone, and her accompanist, Miss Virginia Goodman, also of Gladstone. Miss Jackson presented two delightful violin numbers, together with a whistling solo, and the tumultous applause that followed her appearance gave ample evidence of the pleasure of her hearers. Miss Jackson and Miss Goodman are seniors in the Gladstone high school.
